Pool level 1302.65; upstream temperature 48; downstream 47. The reading at the Warren gauge 6.08 feet and rising.

WARREN COUNTY

While parking and parking meters had been listed as main items on the borough council agenda, last night's meeting dealt more with the new building codes, and the Route 6 bypass. Also, it was reported, work on the new swimming pool will be delayed until after approval of state and federal funds.

Work on the Youngsville bypass will not be bypassed with the coming of winter. Although grading operations will be halted soon, construction of two bridges and an interchange will continue.

All allegedly smeared and otherwise illegible write-in votes for county commissioner candidates will be examined next week to see whether or not they should be counted for James G. Marshall, Republican write-in candidate in the recent general elections.

THE NATION

The House of Representatives defeated by a 10-vote margin a Republican amendment to cut President Johnson's anti-poverty bill by more than $600 million. The House also defeated, with one minor exception, the first of a series of Republican amendments designed to dismantle the Office of Economic Opportunity and place the programs involved under other agencies with more involvement by the states and private enterprise.

The New York State lottery would lose about 60 per cent of its outlets for ticket sales under a bill passed by the Senate to bar federally-insured banks from selling lottery tickets.

THE WORLD

Abba Eban, Israel's foreign minister, told the Security Council that a special representative of the council could be useful in bringing Arabs and Jews together in the Middle East, but only if the council's directive did not prejudice Israel's policies or her negotiating position. Jordan's foreign minister, Abdul Monem Rafai, made it clear that if direct negotiations are the heart of the Israeli case, an Israeli withdrawal from Arab lands remains the central Arab position.

Britain was reported to have obtained an added $250 million in international credits for support of the pound. The loan was apparently completed over the weekend by leading central bankers meeting at the Bank for International Settlements in Basle, Switzerland.

The Japan Peace for Vietnam Committee distributed statements over the names of four young United States Navy enlisted men, saying that the four had become "deserters" in Japan from the Carrier Intrepid as a protest against the war in Vietnam.

After meeting for an hour and a half with President Johnson at the White House, Ambassador Ellsworth S. Bunker predicted that the government of South Vietnam would sharply increase its control of the Vietnamese countryside next year and that the Saigon government would strengthen its political control over the lower levels of government, where corruption has been a problem.

SPORTS

Dick Tannler of 46 Locust street, Warren won the final TMO Football Contest by picking 18 of 24 games correctly. Three readers were right on 17 weekend tilts, but Shirley Mays of Youngsville was only four points off on the tie breaker for second place. William Sandberg Jr. of Youngsville and William Hill Jr. of Warren were both 12 points off and shared third place. Page 7.

County Treasurer Jack McCool will mail 15,850 antlerless deer permits today. The number, 5,800 more than was allocated last year, includes about 400 licenses for out-of-state hunters. Page 7.

The college football season is still in full swing, but the teams with winning records are already looking for bowl bids. Both the Orange and Sugar Bowls are casting glances at Tennessee and Oklahoma. Indiana can lose one and tie one in its remaining games for a berth in the Rose Bowl against the winner of Saturday's USC-UCLA clash. Army has indicated it may break a long-standing tradition if it gets the right offer. Page 6.

Ohio TV Cable Firm Interested in Warren

By BETTY RICE

Parking and parking meters were listed as some of the items on borough council's agenda last night. Far more vital matters were actually discussed as town fathers got down to real business of the evening. Enforcement of the new building codes was questioned by the Warren Area League of Women Voters; Councilman Tony Tomassoni (R), 6th ward, asked council committees to study and reconsider the course of the proposed Route 6, Warren bypass insofar as Carbon Memorial Field facilities were considered. Cable television's local situation was appraised and status of the Oak street swimming pool complex was reviewed.

Mrs. R. Pierson Eaton, LWV and chairman of the area development committee, stressed the organization's support of the building codes, but in citing various instances of apparent abuse of same, urged a flexible amount be set up for adequate staffing to induce a capable man to apply for the job and provide other costs which strict codes enforcement might incur.

The League, thanked for its interest, was assured that arrangements are currently being made and that the isolated incidents referred to would be looked into by next month's council meeting. Council added it was seeking the proper person to implement the program and work to the successful enforcement of the adopted codes.

Tomassoni recommended council committees further study the proposed Route 6 Warren bypass and suggested the state highway department be asked to move further south from Carbon Memorial Field across the local airport to avoid the loss of a portion of the playground area.

Councilman Ray Marti and borough manager Victor L. Miller advised that Joseph W. Taylor, of Ashtabula, Ohio, manager and proprietor of a TV cable firm, now servicing Altoona, Pa., Ridgway and Salamanca, N.Y., as well as others, had expressed interest in Warren with no hook-up charges and a monthly rate of $5.

The present problem, it was explained, is that Bell Telephone Co. controls all utility pole attachments and at present only one is permissible. Since Warren Television's contract expires presently, the planning commission stated possible competition might provide good results. A decision may be reached by next month's council session. It was emphasized that council, in the future can deny future TV contracts and that eventual rate raises would depend on vote of council and that books would be open and rates remain constant.

Councilman Rockwell O'Sheill urged patience in regard to start of construction of the Oak street swimming pool until Bill 509 passes the legislature (and this, according to Senator Richard C.

Frame, appears likely) Passage would mean state and federal funds to implement monies raised by public subscription and appropriated by council. Karl Timm, chairman of the public safety committee reported on a meeting held Nov. 2 in regard to a traffic survey conducted here in July by district engineers and local officials. It was noted it is impossible to get all the way through the borough because of the traffic situation on Pennsylvania avenue. Engineers have recommended updating the present single-dial traffic light system to two-dial (better and more flexible) to an eventual three-dial system (an even better program).

Under a controlled system, Timm said, traffic would be properly pulsed from one end of Pennsylvania avenue to the other with relaying a setting which would move traffic the fastest.

Board Orders Recount Of Write-in Ballots

The allegedly smeared and illegible write-in votes for James G. Marshall, candidate for county commissioner in the recent general elections, have not been forgotten.

Commissioners Lewis L. Crippen and D.H. Lay of the County Board of Elections yesterday passed a resolution to examine voting machine ballots and recount written ballots. Lay said that Blain Mead, a current county commissioner, also a member of the Board of Elections, did not participate in the passing of the resolution because of his successful candidacy for reelection as county commissioner.

The board's action was prompted by a letter received yesterday from Mrs. Margaret A. Wright, 1 Fourth ave., Warren, who asked the board to investigate the election returns. However, Lay said David Swanson, county solicitor, had been looking into such an examination from a legal aspect.

"It is legal," Lay said, "as long as it is done by the Board of Elections after having notified all candidates for County commissioner and the boards of election of the effected precincts."

The recount will be held next Monday morning, Nov. 20 at 10 o'clock at the Court House. As for the possibility of a recount changing the results of the election, Lay said "not a chance. But it is the opinion of the election board that any votes that were apparently meant for Mr. Marshall could be counted." According to law, it is up to the Board of Elections to make this decision, he said.

Marshall placed approximately 500 votes behind Blain Mead in voting for county commissioner. The remaining two

The chairman of the safety committee reminded that by the end of this year, U.S. standards relative to traffic signals must be achieved in the borough. Timm stated that Henry S. Pomeroy, acting director of traffic engineering in Harrisburg, has recommended that parking on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue in Warren be completely eliminated; that signals be converted to a three dial system, determined by a detector on Pennsylvania. Pomeroy, Timm added, stated the district office would assist with necessary paper work but urged council not to wait as to parking on Pennsylvania avenue in the meantime.

The borough manager said the workable program for Warren's first urban renewal program (Liberty street parking lot) has received tentative approval from the Philadelphia office posts were won by David K. Rice (R) and Thomas Donnelly (D).

The resolution number 113, states:

"Whereas Margaret A. Wright, a registered elector of Warren County, by letter received Nov. 13, 1967, requested the Warren County Board of Elections on its own initiative to investigate and examine the election returns to determine that they are valid.

"In particular, we feel that the question, of whether or not a wholesale number of write-in votes for Mr. Marshall were not counted, should be resolved.

"The citizen's confidence in the integrity of the election results is essential to the democratic process and it is our sole concern that this confidence be restored.

"And whereas it has been reported by news media, and rumored throughout Warren County that many smeared and otherwise illegible votes were not counted.

"And whereas it is the duty of the County Board of Elections to certify the duly elected officials, be it hereby resolved that the Warren County Board of Elections by its own action declares that the persons on which write-in votes for all candidates for county commissioner be recounted and otherwise substantiated.

"That this examination and recounting be held at 10 a.m. Monday, Nov. 20, 1967, and that the candidates of county commissioners and the Board of Elections of the effected precincts be properly notified."

GOP Defeated In Move Against Poverty Bill

BY JOHN HERBERS

(c) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — The House defeated by a 10-vote margin yesterday a Republican amendment to cut President Johnson's anti-poverty bill by more than $600 million.

The vote was 159 to 149 against the amendment offered by Charles E. Goodell, Republican of upstate New York. The amendment would have limited the anti-poverty authorization for the current fiscal year to $1.4 billion.

Representatives then defeated with one minor exception, the first of a series of Republican amendments designed to dismantle the Office of Economic Opportunity, the anti-poverty agency and place the programs under other agencies with more involvement by the states and private enterprise.

On the surface, this appeared to be a resounding victory for administration Democrats how had worked for weeks trying to line up enough votes to keep the anti-poverty programs alive and resembling their present form. Yesterday's votes were the first on what is expected to be a prolonged, three-day battle in the House over the program that was first enacted in 1964 but has come under increasing attacks from many sources in the last year or so.

Proponents of the bill conceded, however, that the danger of a serious setback had not passed. Southern Democrats, who have been critical of the anti-poverty programs, did not fully participate in yesterday's voting. Most of them refrained from voting with either the Republicans or the administration, even though they constituted the balance of power on most votes.

Therefore, the crucial test of the bill's ability to survive in the House lies ahead, probably when a motion is made to send the bill back to committee.

President Johnson asked Congress to authorize a $2.06 billion for anti-poverty programs. The Senate increased the authorization to $2.26 billion and the House Committee on Education and Labor reported a bill that coincided with the President's budget.

Even if the committee's version should pass, however, no one expects Congress to appropriate the full $2.06 billion. Most nondefense items have been cut in an effort to trim a burgeoning deficit, and the chairman of the appropriations committee, George H. Mahon of Texas, has said the appropriation for anti-poverty programs will be in the neighborhood of $1.6 billion, the amount spent last year.

Prior to yesterday's voting the administration Democrats were clearly nervous. After a strategy session in which it was decided to make no compromise move with Goodell, Carl D. Per-

U.S. Troops Beat Back Red Troops Near Dak To

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troops beat back a furious North Vietnamese charge late yesterday, firing 105mm howitzers at point-blank range in the jungled hills of the central highlands 14 miles south of Dak To.

After a two-hour battle, the North Vietnamese broke off the engagement, but their suspected major camp two miles farther south was plastered early today by U.S. B52 eight-engine Stratoforters.

For 10 hours before the North Vietnamese struck, the enemy had rained mortar and rocket shells on positions of the U.S. forces, elements of the 173rd Airborne Brigade.

Then U.S. helicopter gunships attacked the Communists, hoping to find the reinforcements U.S. intelligence reports said were shifted to the Dak To front from the area of Pleiku, about 50 miles south.

The Americans lost nine killed and 21 wounded in the renewed fighting, the U.S. Command reported. Its revised figures put U.S. casualties in 11 days of fighting around Dak To at 97 killed and 521 wounded.

The North Vietnamese casualties in yesterday's battle were not known, but U.S. headquarters said 625 of the enemy were killed in the previous 10 days of fighting.

North Vietnamese troops launched a mortar attack last night on another battalion of the 173rd Airborne, dropping in 72 rounds, U.S. casualties were not immediately known.

No major ground fighting was reported elsewhere in South Vietnam, but the U.S. Command announced a new Marine Corps operation in the northern part of the country on the South China sea coast six miles above the coastal town of An Hoa. A broadcast dispatch of Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency claimed the Communist forces had inflicted nearly 1,300 casualties on Americans and South Vietnamese fighting in Dak To. It added 13 allied helicopters were shot down and that a large quantity of arms and munitions had been seized by the Red forces. The dispatch quoted the Viet Cong's Gial Phong Press Agency.

By rough estimate, both sides are evenly matched in manpower with 6,000 men each. The North Vietnamese have five regiments in the area, including a regiment equipped with heavy 122mm rockets.

U.S. officials expressed belief the over-all Communist objective was to gain an "impact victory" to embarrass South Vietnam's new civilian-based government. But at the same time, Dak To is important to them because it straddles a key infiltration route into the central highlands from North Vietnam via Communist-held portions of neighboring Laos.

The charge at Dak To, 270 miles north of Saigon, capped a series of smaller Communist assaults in the central highlands on U.S. and South Vietnamese positions and outposts. Officials said these strikes were aimed at drawing allied forces away from pacification programs in the area.

The northern monsoons again cut into the number of U.S. air strikes against North Vietnam

4 Sailors Desert U.S. Ship

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese peace group announced yesterday the defection of four U.S. Navy men from the 7th Fleet carrier Intrepid because they oppose American involvement in Vietnam. It said the men had asked for political refuge in Japan or any other country not involved in the war.

The Japan Peace for Vietnam Committee showed a movie in which four Americans in civilian clothes read statements which said they did not want to take part in the war. The Intrepid is stationed off Vietnam and its planes fly bombing missions over the North.

A U.S. Navy spokesman said the four men named by the peace committee were absent without leave after the Intrepid left for Vietnamese waters Oct. 25. She had been in Yokosuka to give her crew a week's recreation and rest.

The peace group identified the men as John M. Barrilla, 20, an airman; Richard D. Bailey, 19, airman; Michael A. Lindner, 19, airman apprentice; and Craig W. Anderson, 20, airman apprentice.

The names corresponded with those given by the Navy in Washington which said the four men were listed UA—Unauthorized Absence. A spokesman said the four men did not return from liberty by the time the Intrepid departed from Yokosuka Oct. 26.

The Navy listed Bailey as from Jacksonville, Fla.; Barrilla from Catonsville, Md.; Lindner from Mount Pocono, Pa.; and Anderson from San Jose, Calif.

The Navy said that it had no other information on the men. In the film, entitled "The Intrepid Four" the youth who identified himself as Barrilla said he lived most of his life in Baltimore, Md., and the one who said he was Anderson listed his birthplace as San Jose, Calif. The other two made no mention of their home towns and the peace committee said it could not give them.

Work on Bypass To Continue Through Winter

Work on the Youngsville bypass will continue throughout the winter, a spokesman for the State Highway Department said yesterday.

Grading operations will be halted when winter sets in, but work on three structures—two bridges and an interchange—will continue.

One bridge is to be built in Youngsville Borough, another a mile or two east of Youngsville; both will cross Brokenstraw Creek.

The contractor reportedly hopes to build an embankment at the interchange between Routes 6 and 62 before weather makes grading impossible. This embankment would lead to a bridge crossing Route 62 over Route 6. Other work on interchange structures is to continue throughout the winter.

TMO Offices Moved

All offices of the Times-Mirror and Observer have been moved to the former Times-Mirror building at 205 Pennsylvania ave. w.

The completely remodeled building houses advertising and circulation departments, as well as business, editorial, photo, type-setting, art, and composing departments.

Phone numbers remain the same: 723-1400 for classified ads, 723-8200 for all other departments. A new annex at the rear of the building houses a new press. The old TMO press, at the paper's former offices on Hickory street, could run only one section of the paper at a time. With the new, larger press, both sections can be printed simultaneously. The new press also allows greater flexibility in the use of color.

Want End Of Press Censorship

(C) N.Y. Times News Service LISBON—A group of 235 leading Portuguese intellectuals appealed yesterday for an end of 40 years of press censorship. "The continuous exercise of previous censorship... has led to a state of growing alienation, general indifference, with a weakening of the sense of duty and responsibility, precisely at a time when the nation is faced with problems of the utmost gravity for its future," the intellectuals declared. The appeal was sent in the form of a formal petition to the chairman of the National Assembly and 120 deputies. It was sponsored by eight prominent socialists and liberal Catholics, who said it was the first time they appealed to the National Assembly to fulfill its constitutional obligation in guaranteeing public liberties.

The stamped document was signed by some of Portugal's most outstanding university professors, authors, journalists, as well as Roman Catholic, socialist and liberal opposition militants. It was not published in the Portuguese press.

The petitioners called for a series of urgent measures "for the indispensable rehabilitation of Portuguese intellectual life." These included: —Elaboration of a press law, as provided for under the Portuguese constitution but never put into effect. —Abolishment of administrative pre-censorship of the press.

—An end of book seizures without warrant from competent authorities and the possibility to appeal such seizures with necessary judicial guarantees.

This was considered the most important protest against censorship since 1959, when the usually mild National Assembly condemned censorship and passed a constitutional amendment calling for a press law. Marcel Caetano, then minister of the premier's office, is said to have drafted a liberalizing press law, but the bill was apparently shelved. Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, questioned on the matter, has on several occasions said that a press law "was being prepared."

Several isolated voices have urged an end to censorship. Portugal's Roman Catholic Episcopate published in 1964 a statement by a Portuguese bishop on "the need and obligation" of a free church press. Catholic periodicals are carefully censored along with the rest of the press.

Signs Viet Cong Leaders May Seek Talks With Saigon

By ROBERT TUCKMAN Associated Press Writer SAIGON (AP) — There are signs that hardpressed Viet Cong leaders may be preparing to seek negotiations with the Saigon regime with the aim of setting up a coalition government. Newly captured Communist documents indicate the Viet Cong are trying to seize strategic areas and thus put themselves in a stronger bargaining position.

Allied intelligence reports appear to bear out this strategy, a classic Communist maneuver. South Vietnamese Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Manh, talking with a reporter, predicted: "The Viet Cong will start negotiations soon."

Manh is commander of the 16 provinces below Saigon in the 4th Corps, which embraces the Mekong Delta, longtime stronghold of the Viet Cong. Manh said his prediction was based on documents recently seized by South Vietnamese troops.

One document disclosed Viet Cong plans to infiltrate and capture two provinces north of Saigon and on the border of Cambodia.

The document was a directive issued by the Viet Cong's high command, known as COSVN, Central Office of South Vietnam, based in Tay Ninh Province.

This directive disclosed plans to launch large scale attacks in Phuoc Long and Binh Long provinces by Communist troops infiltrating from Cambodia. The provinces would be occupied.

Apartment Owners

The Warren County Apartment Owners Association meet at 7 p.m. today in the Hospitality Room at Northwest Savings and Loan building. Members are asked to bring suggestions as to future operations. Those unable to attend but interested in joining the group may send checks for $5 to Mrs. Richard Nielson, RD1, Pittsfield. At a meeting Sunday at Gnage's Real Estate office, the association discussed discount cards from various merchants and leases.

Youth Charged

Two Warren County youths, ages 15 and 16, were apprehended at 1:25 a.m. Sunday by borough police and charged under Sec. 875.1 of the state liquor code which prohibits those under 21 years of age for consuming, possession or transporting alcoholic beverages. Police said the pair, when stopped for a routine traffic check, had been drinking and had beer in their possession.

Episcopalian Who Preached To LBJ Center of Controversy

By JOHN F. DAFFRON Associated Press Writer WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — The Episcopal clergyman who preached a sermon to President Johnson calling for a "logical, straightforward explanation" of Vietnam policy sought shelter yesterday from a whirlwind of controversy. The Rev. Cotesworth Pinckney Lewis, rector of historic Bruton Parish Church, was defended by his bishop, criticized by congressional leaders and the cause of a letter of apology from Virginia Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr. to the President. An official of Colonial Williamsburg, host for the President's weekend visit to the restored pre-Revolutionary War capital, offered the unsolicited comment that the rector's remarks about Vietnam were "an exquisite example of poor taste."

The Minister, besieged by calls for amplification of his sermon — including one caller from Australia — declined further interviews, indicating he felt his intentions had been misinterpreted and he wished to bow out of the spotlight. He said the reason he inserted the Vietnam references into the sermon after he found the President would attend the 11 a.m. service was because of a moral obligation. This obligation, he explained, was to express concern over fears held by many Americans that they have not been told the full and complete story of Vietnam by the government. His criticism was not so much of the American position in Vietnam although he said "there is a general consensus of what we are doing in Vietnam is wrong" as of the failure of the President to provide a full explanation. Dr. Lewis confirmed this after the services by replying, "Yes, sir," when asked if he meant Johnson's reasons had been inadequate. There was some sharp criticism of the minister by congressmen, including Democratic leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma who told the House he thought the incident at Williamsburg was the "first time in our history anyone has tried to make a captive audience out of the President."

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, made his criticism more personal: "It's well known that the best way to get headlines is to attack the President. Nobody ever heard of this minister before today and nobody will ever hear of him again, which will be no great loss."

Democratic whip Hale Boggs of Louisiana also denounced Dr. Lewis and said the President had just completed a nationwide tour explaining the very issues on which the minister said there was an information gap.

Gov. Godwin, who attended the Gridiron Club dinner with Johnson Saturday night, felt constrained to write the President that while it might be unnecessary, "it is moved to say that the President of the United States is always welcome in Virginia and the people would always desire he be shown every courtesy." He expressed his personal and official regret at the Sunday incident. But the Rt. Rev. George F. Gunn, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Virginia, of which Williamsburg is a part, said Dr. Lewis was within his rights as a Christian and minister to express his convictions. He said Dr. Lewis spoke as an individual and not for the Episcopal Church or the diocese and there was no thought of disciplinary action. "I am convinced that his sense of Christian compulsion to speak out was stronger than his desire not to speak as frankly as he did," the bishop added.

Antiwar Demonstrators Show Up at Grange Meet

By WILLIAM M. BLAIR (C) N.Y. Times News Service SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York faced yesterday a champing, sign-carrying band of antiwar demonstrators who had hoped to confront President Johnson.

The President, however, had canceled Sunday night his appearance here before the annual meeting of the National Grange, the country's oldest farm organization, which is celebrating its 100th birthday. Grange members, who witnessed the demonstration outside the Onondaga County War Memorial, appeared shocked by the young men and women who said they were from Syracuse and Cornell universities.

"The President has a right to go anywhere he pleases without this sort of thing," a Colorado farmer told his wife. "When I tell them about this back home, they won't believe it," a Minnesota farmer's wife said. Amid speculation over the President's reasons for the Grange delegates, Herschel D. Newsom, master of the National Grange, said that the President's advisers had counseled him "three weeks ago not to come to Syracuse Monday."

Newsom characterized the some 100 pickets who gathered outside the War Memorial building, the site of the Grange meeting as the "remnants" of what was to have been a much larger demonstration to harass Johnson.

The situation "would be humorous," Newsom said at a luncheon, "if it were not such a tragic revelation." The speculation over the reasons for the President's not coming covered his meetings in Washington with Ellsworth Bunker, ambassador to South Vietnam and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, United States commander in Vietnam, his concern over antiwar legislation now before the House, and the belief that Johnson did not want to share the scene with Governor Rockefeller.

The governor made no mention of the President's last moment cancellation in an address to the Grange, but drew chuckles from some 1,000 delegates and visitors by saying, "I'm only thrilled to bring Lady Bird with me."

The reference was to Rockefeller's wife, Happy, who came with him. Mrs. Johnson had been expected to accompany the President.

The antiwar demonstrators flanked the Memorial building entrance and were kept moving by a handful of local and state police. There were no disorders. Some of the signs carried obscene words. They read: "Even a farm organization can't dignify LBJ's bull." "Where is LBJ today?" "LBJ is a chicken hawk." "LBJ are you afraid of the people?"

The pickets also came equipped with bull horns. As one young man with long blond hair called "what do we want?" The pickets responded "peace." "When do you want it?" he called. "Now," the pickets roared back.

Rockefeller in his address to the Grange dwelt upon the future use of the land. New York, Rockefeller said, was "now facing great problems in the ultimate use of agricultural land." The difficulty, he said, was in keeping "the most desirable land in production because the same land is highly desirable for highways, airports and building sites."

Dick Tracy Makes Chief

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—The new chief of police in this South-eastern Pennsylvania community is Dick Tracy. Sgt. Richard Tracy, 33, of the Chicago police force, was selected chief by Pottstown Borough Council from among 40 applicants.

An 11-year veteran of the Chicago department and head of its narcotics bureau, Tracy will assume his new duties here in January, succeeding Milton Hooper. Councilmen aren't saying if they were influenced by the name shared by the sergeant and the square-jawed champion of law and order in the comic strip drawn by Chester Gould.

Corner Bonfires

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—Police here are hunting a perilsome and paper pyromaniac. Bundles of magazines and newspapers left on street corners in the early morning hours were found destroyed by fire on several occasions recently.

"But the White House has been working all weekend to get our members here for the vote so there is nothing left to do but go ahead and face it," Perkins said.

Sargent Shriver, the controversial director of the O.E.O., conferred with House Speaker John W. McCormack and other Democratic leaders. He supplied the speaker with statistics that McCormack carried to the floor and recited in an impassioned speech against the Goodell amendment. Should Goodell prevail, McCormack said, head start would be cut back to 40 per cent, the Young Corps 50 per cent, medical programs 6 per cent and the Domestic Peace Corps 50 per cent and so on. "Certainly O.E.O. has made mistakes," the speaker said. "But this is no reason to destroy it." Goodell replied that the figures used by McCormack and other Democrats were "false".

Celebrity Auction

WASHINGTON—One of the latest methods of raising money for charity is to hold a "celebrity auction." The sponsoring organization writes to someone in the public eye and says: "We are holding a celebrity auction and would appreciate it if you would send us something personal that we could sell at the next meeting of the Little Sisters of the Freres Jacques. Anything at all will do as long as it comes from you."

Buchwald

The fundraising gimmick seems to have taken the country by storm, and for the last two years I've been averaging five requests a week from such varied groups as the Friends of the Hospital for Professional Football Knee Injuries and the League to Abolish Tree Diseases. I have always been very diligent about my mail, and in the beginning I sent out canceled credit cards, autographed telephone books, personalized cigarette lighters and gift books that I had never read.

At first I welcomed requests because they helped clean out all the junk in my office. But as time went on the demands kept coming in and pretty soon I had run out of worthless things to auction.

Six months ago I sent out my last telephone book, and I still had pleas on my desk from 14 worthy charitable organizations.

So I started sending out things of more value. My file cabinet went to the Knights of Nasser, My typewriter was sent to the Sisterhood of Wall St. Brokers. Then my desk went and finally my chair. The office was bare but the requests still kept pouring in.

One day as I sat on my floor opening my mail, I suggested to my secretary that we call it quits. But she said, "How can you say no to so many worthy causes? Don't you have any heart at all?"

So I started stealing stuff from home, a lamp here, a blanket there, a throw rug from the hall—things I was sure my wife wouldn't miss.

My secretary dutifully wrapped them and sent them off to the Eighth Day Church of Moravia, the Sons of General Custer Foundation and the Benedict Arnold Antidetonation League.

The silverware went next, then the china, and finally I took all the pillows from the children's beds. My wife started to get suspicious and one day when she caught me trying to sneak out with her dressing table, she called me on it.

I had to confess it was going to an auction for the benefit of the Old People's Home for the Television Blind.

When she found out what I had been doing for the past two months, she put her foot down on my sending any more gifts to celebrity auctions. I told my secretary and she was heartbroken.

"What can I tell the Abortion League of Waco, Tex.?"

I couldn't stand the hurt look on her face, so I took off my shirt.

"Here, send them this, but can we call it off after this?"

"You're the boss," she said as she looked wistfully at my shoes.

Israel Minister Sets Conditions For U.N. Mediator

BY DREW MIDDLETON

(c) N.Y. Times News Service UNITED NATIONS — Israel suggested to the Security Council yesterday the basis on which she would accept a special representative of the council to assist in the attainment of peace in the Middle East.

Foreign Minister Abba Eban said that a special representative could be useful in bringing the Arabs and the Israelis together, but only if the council's directive did not prejudice Israel's policies or her negotiating position.

Both draft resolutions before the Security Council, one submitted by the United States and the other by India, Mali and Nigeria, provide for the dispatch of a special representative. They differ on the purpose and scope of his mission.

The position of Eban on this point was counterbalanced by his unreserved rejection of the three-nation resolution and his comment that none of the proposals before the council, including the American draft, gave "sufficient weight to the concept of negotiation and agreement."

Israel, he declared, has "serious and constructive proposals to make in the direct peace negotiations she seeks with the Arab states and will be ready to 'consider and react to ideas put directly to us by the other side.'"

If direct negotiations are the heart of the Israeli case, Jordan's foreign minister, Abdul Monem Rifai, told the council, an Israeli withdrawal from Arab lands remains the central position of the Arabs. He hinted that if there were no Israeli withdrawal, the Arabs would be forced to resume the war.

Peace in the Middle East might be possible, Rifai said, if the council appreciated "adequately" the policy and spirit of the gathering of Arab leaders at Khartoum, the Sudan, last summer.

But if not, he said, the United Nations would "cease to be the direction" to which the Arabs would turn to ask for the removal of "armed aggression" from the occupied lands.

Then, the Arab governments would have to turn to their peoples, Rifai said and explain "that they have no other course except to mobilize their efforts, to use their own resources and to organize themselves to liquidate Israeli aggression no matter what the price and the sacrifice may be."

When the Council recessed early yesterday afternoon until tomorrow morning, the consensus was that the gap between the three-power and United States drafts remained unbridgeable. No one thought either resolution would get the nine votes needed for adoption in the 15-member council.

Indeed, the United States has stressed that should the three-power draft formulated by India be adopted, which now seems unlikely, it would refuse to play any role in carrying it out.

To the chief United States representative, Arthur J. Goldberg and his colleagues in the United States mission, the Indian draft is weighted on the side of the Arabs, seeks to re-create conditions that in the past have led to war and gives no promise of laying the foundations of a just and durable peace.

Eban's intentions, as they were developed in the course of a long speech, were first to rebut the Arab position as was outlined Thursday night by Mahmoud Riad, the Egyptian foreign minister, and second, to present the basic Israeli position on a settlement.

Israel's policy, he emphasized, can be expressed in a single sentence: "It is our firm resolve never, never to return to the danger and the vulnerability from which we have emerged." This resolve, he said, will "prevail over every other consideration."

The only two ideas that the Soviet and Egyptian delegates brought to the meeting last Thursday, the foreign minister emphasized, were that "Israel's refusal to be strangled and bludgeoned to death" was "an act of aggression" and "that the way to get peace" is "to reproduce the precise conditions which brought about the war."

Eban Riad and Rifai see the Khartoum conference in different lights.

Released Prisoners Return Home

(c) N.Y. Times News Service NEW YORK — The three Army sergeants who were released by the Viet Cong arrived at John F. Kennedy Airport shortly after 7 p.m. yesterday and were immediately transferred to a waiting military aircraft.

Staff Sergeants James A. Jackson and Danile Lee Pitzer Jr., passed before a cluster of microphones in front of an enclosure behind which reporters and cameramen were massed and said they were happy to be home and wished to see their relatives soon.

S. Sgt. Edward Johnson, who is ill, was carried out of the Pan American Airways plane on a stretcher and moved to the waiting military plane in an ambulance. He looked weak and made no statement.

Frank A. Siverts of the State Department, special assistant to Ambassador at Large W. Averil Harriman, who was at the airport, told newsmen that Johnson would be taken to Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington and the two other sergeants to Ft. Bragg, N.C. for medical examination.

Columnist Gets Award Thursday

Comedy star Bob Newhart, currently substituting for Johnny Carson on the NBC-TV "Tonight Show," will head the entertainment at the Banthees Award Luncheon in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Thursday, November 16th when Times-Mirror and Observer columnist William F. (Bill) Buckley receives the Silver Lady Award as "Outstanding Columnist for 1967."

To appear with Newhart, the 32-year-old luncheon organization of communications executives has especially selected some of the cleverest and most acclaimed new acts from television and the night-clubs. The Dolphins vocal trio, two men and a girl who open at New York's Latin Quarter November 22nd will provide popular and folk music. Composed of a Greek, a Spaniard and an Israeli, the Dolphins sing in as many as fourteen languages.

David Frye, who has been called "the best of the impressionists" following his recent appearances on the Ed Sullivan and other TV shows, satirizes political figures such as L.B.J., Bobby Kennedy, Nixon, and Rockefeller. Frye, scheduled to appear on "The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour" on CBS-TV Sunday November 12th, promises to include columnist Buckley in his impressions for the Banthees.

Rounding out the Banthees bill will be the full cast of "Dark Horses", offering excerpts from the satirical new musical revue at New York's "Upstairs At The Downstairs" supper theater. The featured players are Richard Blair, Gary Crabbe, Diane Deckard, Larry Moss, Carol Richards, and Jamie Sell.

Japan Likely to Get Control Of Some Islands in Pacific

BY HEDRICK SMITH

WASHINGTON — The United States is reportedly preparing to make partial concessions to Japanese demands for political control of some of Japan's Pacific islands captured by the U.S. in World War II.

The moves are expected to be announced at the conclusion of President Johnson's talks with Premier Eisaku Sato of Japan who flew into Washington last night. The two leaders will start two days of formal talks today.

The discussions are expected to focus largely on Japan's desire to regain political control of Okinawa and other Pacific islands. Administration sources indicated that the U.S. was likely to agree on a schedule for return to Japanese rule of the Bonin Island group, which includes two Jima, but is unlikely to agree to any significant changes on Okinawa.

Both the Ryukyu Chain, of which Okinawa is the principal island, and the Bonin Islands were captured by American forces during World War II. The U.S. has recognized the "residual sovereignty" of Japan over both groups of islands but has maintained administrative control, and developed Okinawa into one of its military bases in the Western Pacific.

The 66-year-old Japanese premier said in an arrival statement at Andrews Air Force Base that he was looking forward to "frank" talks with the President "on matters of mutual concern."

He said he counted on the discussions to place American-Japanese cooperation "on an even firmer basis." But he did not specifically mention either Okinawa or the Bonin Islands. Because of the strategic location and vital multi-billion dollar defense bases on Okinawa the Johnson administration is reluctant to agree to a definite timetable for its return to Japan.

ane rule. In his talks with Sato Johnson is expected to offer symbolic rather than substantive concessions, along the lines of recent decisions to allow Okinawan ships to fly Japanese flags and Okinawan citizens to carry Japanese passports.

Agreeing to a timetable for Japanese control of the Bonin island group presents much less of a problem for Washington. Fewer than 100 American servicemen are on these islands manning military installations. Officials declined to discuss details of any arrangements on the Bonin Islands until Johnson and Sato complete their private talks today and tomorrow.

They emphasized, however, that both governments were entering the talks, the first at this level since Sato's last visit

Britain to Complete Pullout of South Arabia

LONDON (AP) — Britain has resolved to complete its pullout from turbulent South Arabia in nine days—Nov. 22—winding up 128 years of occupation in the prized Red Sea land.

Government sources, reporting this last night, said Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Cabinet intends to assign Lord Shackleton to negotiate an immediate power transfer with leaders of the National Liberation Front—NLF.

Shackleton, son of the polar explorer, has for months been acting as a special British envoy in the South Arabia crisis. He will meet NLF delegates in Geneva within the next few days.

The negotiators will then hustle to complete two agreements: —A short, simple accord under which Britain, as sovereign power, will assign all rights, titles, authority and other relevant powers in the NLF leaders to Washington in Jan. 1968, with mutual recognition of the value of Okinawa in the Western Pacific defense system and of the political pressure in Japan on Sato to win some show of "forward movement" from the U.S. on the Okinawa issue.

Washington is also eager to nudge the Tokyo government into assuming a larger role in the regional defense system, possibly in the fields of anti-submarine warfare or regional air transport capability.

The Johnson administration would also like to see the Japanese government make a contribution to the Vietnam war effort "so their flag shows," but officials here consider it highly unlikely that Japan will go beyond offering economic or technical assistance to the Saigon regime.

as the successor regime. This will need to be completed before Nov. 22.

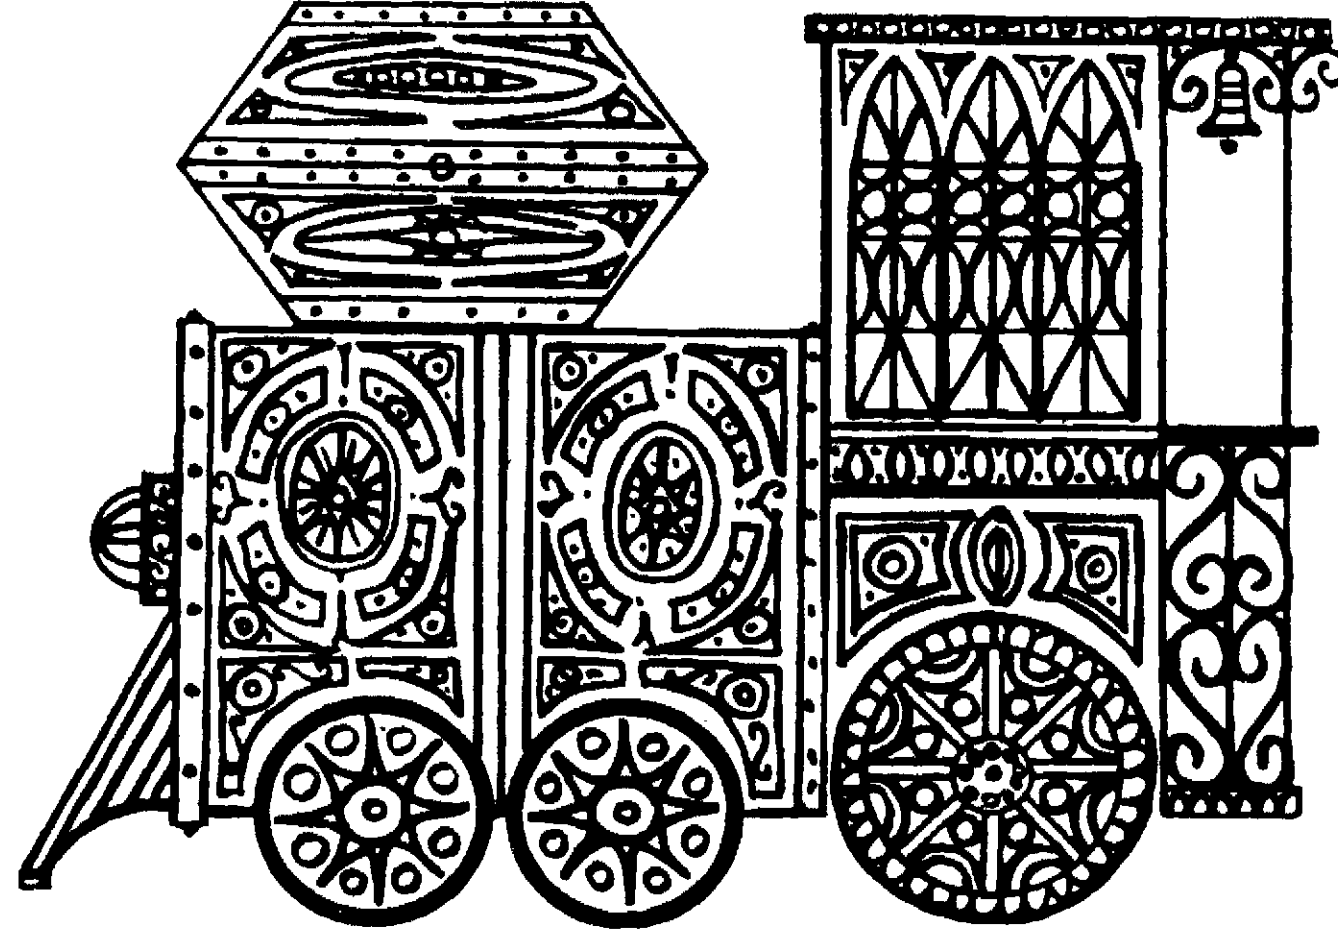

A longer, more complex treaty of cession under which all the paraphernalia of government will be transferred retroactively from the old to the new rulers of the desert federation. This will cover such things as administration, the responsibilities and powers to preserve law and order, the keys and funds of state and the commitments at home and abroad which bound the ruling authority.

The surrender of British power in the storied colony of Aden and its sun-drenched hinterland marks just about the final phase in the nation's imperial history. It also represents one of the last painful spasms of Britain's century-old relationship with the people and rulers of the Arab world.

Forest Service Record

Just recently, I have been accused of going out of my way to criticize the staff of the Allegheny National Forest by directing attention to a lack of development in the area of the Kinzua Dam. It was said that for one diabolic reason or another I got pleasure out of harassing persons who were doing the best they could under existing conditions.

It was also implied that I carried a grudge against the Forest Service and would go out of my way to find fault with any program they instituted.

This, I think, calls for a "look at the record."

First, I will have to admit that I have been critical of the lack of recreational development on the lands of the ANF for many years. While other national forests were being fully developed, especially in the West, the vast potential of our local federal lands have been overlooked. This, in spite of the fact that they are centrally located in heart of the nation's expanding urban growth.

In short, I have considered the recreational development of the Allegheny National Forest to be twenty to thirty years behind in meeting the demands placed upon it by the public and I have been impatiently critical of delays that keep the public from having full use of the few facilities that have been authorized.

But, all in all, I think the record will show that in other respects I have fully supported the ANF staff and the Forest Service when they proposed some highly controversial programs.

Take the even-age timber management plan, for instance. While this program was violently opposed by many sportsmen and some private timber operators, I hailed it as a step forward in timber-wildlife management. And now that it has been in operation for the past several years, I think that it is proving to be just that.

I have taken issue with the Pennsylvania Game Commission because they hesitate to apply the same multiple use plan to their game lands that is in effect on the lands of the Allegheny National Forest. And on several occasions I have directed attention to the fact that only on these lands is it possible for the wilderness camper to pitch his tent where he wants without going through a lot of red tape to get permits of various sorts.

I have lauded their "in lieu of taxes" program; most often drawing heavy criticism from owners of private timber lands who claim the return to the townships is not based on practical return of profits. But the financial aid provided the townships by this program is of such value that I find it hard to question its merit.

And there is little doubt that it was the "in lieu of taxes" program that influenced me to support the acquisition of lands on the west bank of the Kinzua reservoir, again drawing fire from my timber-producing friends. But in addition to the fact that the "in lieu" funds would be highly useful to the concerned townships, I also felt that public ownership of lands surrounding a public development such as the dam was not only practical but imperative.

My position on this matter could change though in the very near future if more effort isn't soon directed toward making all of our publically-owned lands more available to the public. There seems to be a growing tendency lately for bureaucratic minds to consider such lands their private property once they come into federal ownership. And in this respect, the Forest Service is not the only guilty party.

However, I hope that I can continue to support the land acquisition program.

And although it doesn't please many area sports, I intend to keep on supporting the road building program of the ANF. For through this program vast areas with recreational potential are being opened up to general public use and scenic enjoyment, even though it may allow road hunters to penetrate what is presently considered as backcountry. But with scenic rural-type roads becoming more and more important to the future of Warren County the value of this road program cannot be discounted.

I further intend to support the river development program presently being instituted by the ANF, and was highly enthusiastic when they announced the purchase of Thompson's Island as the first step of the program.

+ + + +

So, all in all, I haven't been too critical of either the ANF staff or the Forest Service overall. But I still contend that their efforts to develop the tremendous recreational potential of the Allegheny National Forest has been lackadaisical.

"The hunter helps the balance of nature. If this were not the case, we would have millions of dollars of damage to farm crops and property which would have an adverse effect on our gross national product."

Don't Look Now, But Bowls Around Corner

Army Takes 'Wait And See' Stand

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — The athletic brass at Army is not hanging over the telephone waiting for a football bowl bid, but they're not taking the receiver off the hook, either. They're ready to listen when and if you might also describe them as interested.

"We're the only service academy that has not played in a bowl," Col. Jerry Capka, athletic director at the U.S. Military Academy, said yesterday. "We have no policy against it."

"Our attitude is that we will wait until we get a bid and then we'll consider it on its merits." He acknowledged there had been feelers.

The Black Knights, with a 7-1 record and one of the country's most interesting teams, are reported on the invitation lists of the major Southern bowls—Sugar, Cotton, Orange and Gator—as well as numerous of the other post-season extravaganzas.

Beaten only by Duke 10-7 in a fumbling game that should never have got away, Army scored its seventh victory Saturday by beating a big, bruising Utah team 22-0. Before this game, the Utes had averaged 22 points an outing.

Led by Steven Landell, an unorthodox passer and sharp field general from Princeton, Minn., the Cadets also have beaten such teams as Southern Methodist, 26-6; Stanford, 24-20, and Air Force, 10-7.

They played Pittsburgh Saturday in a game in which they'll be heavily favored although they've never won at Pitt and then lost Dec. 2 against Navy at Philadelphia.

If they finished with a 9-1 record—the best at Army since Red Blak's 1955 team went 8-0-1—they should be prime bowl material.

It's believed Army officials would consider only a bid from one of the bigger bowls and would leave final decision up to the players themselves. The players are said to be eager for the chance to set such a precedent.

"If you could be the first man on Staten Island, you'd swim to get there," said Frank Walters, director of Army's sports information.

Tom Cahill took over the Army reins on short notice last year after the resignation of Paul Dietzel and became the 1966 Coach of the Year on a surprising 8-2 record.

Besides Landell, a junior quarterback, Army has a hard-running fullback in 200-pound Charlie Jarvis and one of the quickest and most alert defenses in college football. Several of the team's victories are owed to the defensive platoon.

Army came within inches of going to the Cotton Bowl in 1963, when Navy got the bid and lost to Texas at Dallas. The bid has been tendered to the winner of the service game and both teams had accepted. Army let the clock run out with the ball at Navy's goal line. The Air Force played in the Cotton Bowl in 1959, tying Texas Christian.

North Carolina St. Waits for Bowl Bid

By REESE HARR
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Once-beaten North Carolina State anxiously awaited a possible bowl invitation yesterday. But Athletic Director Roy Clogston said, "We haven't heard a thing from any of them."

"We're hoping a bid will come," said Clogston. "We've got a good team and a great bunch of boys who deserve a bowl bid."

Clogston said Monk Simon, representative of the Sugar Bowl, told him Saturday after N.C. State was dumped from the unbeaten ranks by Penn State 13-8.

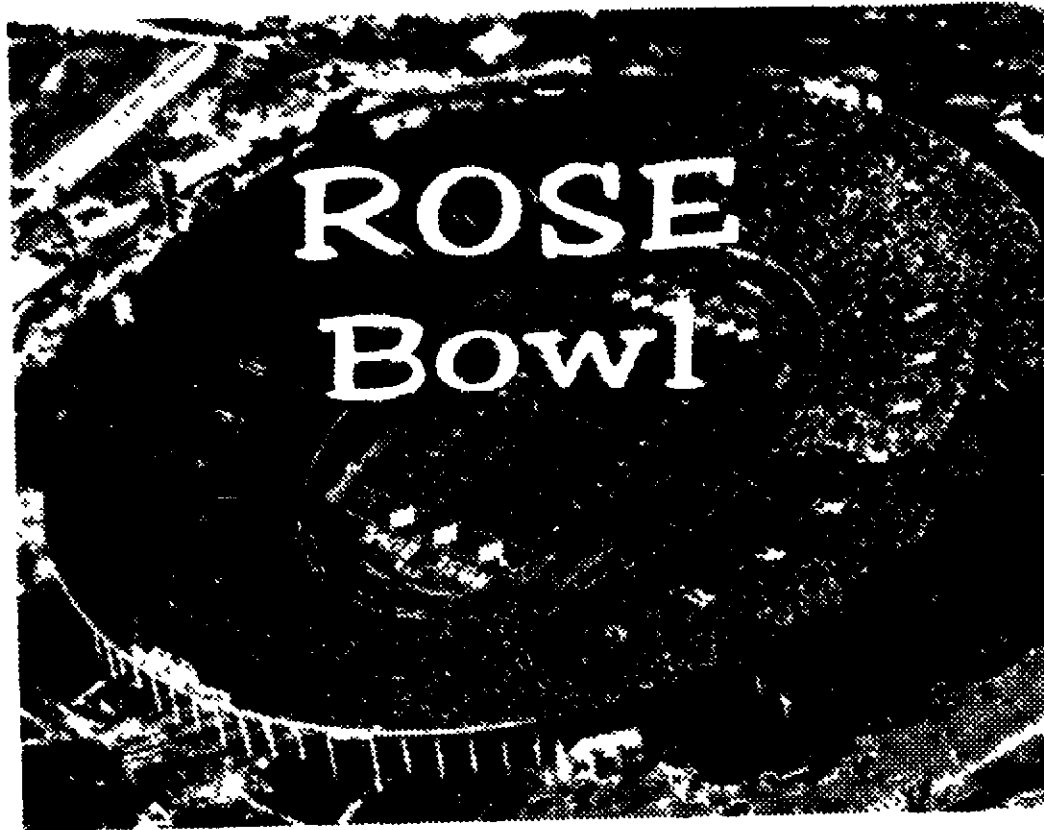

"Don't count your team out just because you lost this game," Clogston said. "If a bid comes, I'm going to scurry around as fast as I can to get it accepted."

Bell, Headrick Injured for KC

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Bobby Bell and Sherrill Headrick, regular linebackers for the Kansas City Chiefs, probably won't be able to play against the San Diego Chargers next Sunday, a spokesman said yesterday.

Bell suffered a badly sprained ankle and Headrick a pulled hamstring muscle in the Chiefs' 33-10 American Football League victory over the Boston Patriots.

Cornback Willie Mitchell and guard Curt Merz, who missed the Boston game because of injuries, are expected to be ready for the Chargers.

GRANDDADDY OF THEM ALL

The Rose Bowl, which pits the best in the Big Ten against the West Coast champion, is the oldest of the many post-season bowls and usually commands the most attention. Southern Cal and

UCLA will slug it out for a berth this Saturday and surprising Indiana can earn a ticket with a loss and a tie in its last two games. (See stories below.)

SATURDAY'S GAME-OF-YEAR

Title, Rose Berth Ride On Trojan-Bruin Battle

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—"I think the team which wins Saturday night here in this city should be the national champion," Coach John McKay of the Southern California Trojans declared yesterday in assessing the football clash coming up against UCLA.

At stake for certain in the traditional USC-UCLA battle will be the Pacific-8 championship and the trip to the Rose Bowl.

McKay's Trojans go in with an 8-1 overall record having been tumbled from the undefeated list last Saturday 3-0 by Oregon State at Corvallis while OSU put the only blemish on the UCLA record, a 16-1 tie.

"If you don't score you can't win," McKay told the Southern California Football Writers of the Trojan defeat.

Perhaps with some psychology in mind, McKay had UCLA at the top of his personal list of the leading teams in the nation while Tommy Prothro of UCLA listed USC.

"We'll be up against the biggest, fastest college squad I know of," Prothro declared. With his next breath, he added, "We think we have a pretty good football team."

While USC was losing, the Bruins trounced Washington 48-0 to put their record at 7-0-1.

In addition to losing the game at Corvallis, the Trojans also lost speedy wingback Jim Lawrence who underwent surgery for a knee injury.

McKay said he will switch Earl McCulloch from split end to the Lawrence spot with Ron Drake to start at end. On the brighter side, O. J. Simpson showed recovery from his foot injury when he gained 188 yards in 33 carries despite a muddy field.

Prothro agrees the Trojan halfback poses the greatest threat to the Bruin defense and described him as "big, fast, agile and nifty."

UCLA linebacker and defensive signal caller Don Manning won't be in top physical shape for the game because of a shoulder injury.

Current odds favor the Trojans by three points and the pregame voting by the writers didn't solve anything. Of 41 cast 21 favored UCLA, 19 thought USC would win and one predicted a tie.

McKay took note of reports a television cameraman had pictures which indicated the winning field goal by Oregon State might not have been good. He commented, "If the official puts both hands over his head, he isn't praying."

Marvin Quits Post As Adrian's Coach

ADRIAN, Mich. (AP)—Charles "Chappy" Marvin, head football coach at Adrian College for the last six years, resigned yesterday.

"I thought I did what was best for myself and the school. We weren't going anywhere and the change may help both of us," Marvin said.

Marvin has had a record of 13 wins and 34 losses at Adrian. The team had one win and seven losses this fall.

Loss, Tie: Indiana Comes Out Smelling Like Roses

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Indiana's Cinderella football team, specializing in victories just before the clock strikes midnight, could go to the Rose Bowl with a tie and a loss in its last two games.

The Hoosiers are unbeaten in eight games and share a 5-0 Big Ten lead with Purdue.

They take on Minnesota on the Gophers' home ground Saturday and follow up with an Old Oaken Bucket clash at Bloomington against Purdue.

Victory over Minnesota and a loss to Purdue would still send Indiana to the Rose Bowl, since Purdue went last year.

A tie with Minnesota and defeat by the Boilermakers would throw the Pasadena invitation decision to the Rose Bowl committee, but Indiana probably would get the nod since it has never been to the Rose Bowl and Minnesota went in 1961 and 1962.

But the road has been rough so far. Indiana came from behind with less than five minutes on the clock to beat Kansas, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin and Michigan State. It was Michigan State by one point, Kentucky by two, Kansas by three, Iowa by four and Michigan by seven.

The Hoosiers' 70-point spread over the first eight opponents looks impressive until you subtract the 35 surplus points against Arizona and 13 over Illinois.

That leaves 22 excess points against the other six opponents. "Most of them have been cliffhangers right down to the wire," says Coach John Pont, who led the Hoosiers to ninth place in the Big Ten in his first two seasons and now seems to be riding a winner.

"I had thought our season record would be 5-5 and quite possibly go 6-4," he said.

Pont credits at least part of Indiana's growing reputation as an endurance team, especially in the closing minutes of a game, to the fact that the team dropped almost 600 pounds of fat during the summer.

"That in itself gave the coaching staff an indication of how serious the boys were," he said. But the young team, with six

Sugar Has Wolfpack As 'Hole Card' Team

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The Sugar Bowl has a hole card in North Carolina State for the New Year's Day football classic here but the selection committee doesn't want to play it yet because of flickering hope that it still might be able to grab either Tennessee or Oklahoma.

Tennessee and Oklahoma are the most desirable bowl opponents in the country," one Sugar Bowl official said privately yesterday. He was quick to admit, however, that the rival Orange Bowl seems to have the Vols, 6-1, and the Sooners, 6-1, sewed up.

The North Carolina State situation could change after this Saturday's round of college games.

A year ago the National Collegiate Athletic Association ruled that colleges couldn't receive or accept post-season game bids until the Monday after the third playing Saturday in November. There's one exception. A team can talk bowl on the Monday following its ninth game—even if it comes before the general deadline.

The Wolfpack fits this category. That meant that North Carolina State, 8-1, could have done something yesterday—if it had gotten a concrete offer.

There was published speculation in North Carolina newspapers that a Sugar Bowl bid would be extended yesterday. Apparently there wasn't, because such invitations are almost always accompanied by much fanfare.

What this all means is that North Carolina State, which closes out its season this Saturday by battling Clemson for the Atlantic Coast Conference title, is itching to come to the Sugar Bowl. And the Sugar Bowl would like to have the Wolfpack. But there isn't any rush right now as far as North Carolina State is concerned, so why hurry.

Most bowl bids go out next Monday.

"I think the biggest thing in our favor is when Notre Dame plays Miami, Fla.," confided one committee member. "If Miami comes out on top, then the pressure is going to be put on them (The Orange) to take Miami. But, darn it, that game comes four days too late."

The Hurricane-Irish clash is Nov. 24. What it boils down to is the Sugar Bowl is keeping its fingers crossed that the Orange Bowl might decide to wait four days to see what happens. The word from the Florida resort is that there are two chances this could happen—very slim and none.

In the unlikely event that it does, the feeling among Sugar Bowl sources is that Oklahoma would be easier to snare than Tennessee.

Although most Sugar Bowlers vehemently deny it, one source guardedly admits there's another hidden factor—the National Broadcasting Co., which starts out its Jan. 1 bowl extravaganza with the Sugar, followed by the Rose and Orange Bowls.

"Yes, you could assume that NBC-TV would probably be delighted if one of our teams was from the East, so it could have a shot at sewing up the viewing audience in that rich market," the source said.

Who? Army, 7-1, or Penn State, 9-1, would fit the bill. Also in the Sugar Picture somewhere, at least until Saturday, are Miami, Wyoming, and Auburn.

So the Sugar Bowlers will huddle in secret several times this week before fanning out on Saturday to watch a number of teams, keeping their fingers crossed that Clemson doesn't trump their hole card.

Orange Also Wants Vols And Sooners

By BEN FUNK
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—If Tennessee and Oklahoma win Saturday's football games, they can make reservations for Miami and the Orange Bowl.

Officially, the teams cannot be announced until 10 a.m. Monday, but the Orange Bowl Committee definitely wants Tennessee and Oklahoma, and the feeling is mutual.

Besides a good time for the players in balmy Florida, the Orange Bowl offers more look than any other bowl picking teams in the open market. Last year, Florida and Georgia Tech split $518,000.

Oklahoma plays Kansas Saturday and Tennessee meets Mississippi. Both teams have 6-1 records, and each will have two games left on its schedule—Oklahoma against Nebraska and Oklahoma State and Tennessee against Kentucky and Vanderbilt.

"We're impressed with Tennessee, and Oklahoma would be an asset to anybody's bowl," is as far as Jack Baldwin, chairman of the Orange Bowl Selection Committee, can go in speaking publicly.

If either of the chosen teams stumbles Saturday, Alabama, 6-1-1; North Carolina State, 8-1, and Penn State, 6-2, all would come into the Orange Bowl picture.

Until North Carolina State was bumped off the unbeaten list last Saturday, its fans thought the Wolfpack was Miami bound. The governor's office ordered tickets and North Carolina newspapers wrote for color pictures of the Orange Bowl.

The Wolfpack's 13-8 loss to Penn State solidified the Orange Bowl Committee behind Tennessee and Oklahoma. But if either stumbles Saturday, the governor may still want those tickets.

Tennessee and Oklahoma met in the Orange Bowl in 1939, with the Volunteers racking up a 17-0 victory in their first of two appearances. They lost to Rice 8-0 in 1947.

Oklahoma has made six trips to the Orange Bowl, winning four times.

Cotton Bowl's Committee Is Still Looking

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The Cotton Bowl selection committee will scout three more games Saturday in search of a visiting team for the Jan. 1 football classic.

Tennessee, Colorado, Alabama and Louisiana State were looked over Saturday. Next Saturday Cotton Bowl scouts will be at the Alabama-South Carolina, Tennessee—Mississippi and Colorado-Kansas State games.

The committee met yesterday to assess the field and indicated a selection probably would be made next Monday—the day the NCAA permits invitations to be extended.

There were indications that Alabama is the most popular choice although the committee said it had ten teams under consideration and that there were games to be played before the final choice could be made. The list of prospects includes Alabama, Tennessee, Colorado, Louisiana State, Oklahoma, Nebraska, North Carolina State, Georgia, Army and Florida.

Paterno Praises Nittany Lions; Two Out for Ohio

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Penn State football coach Joe Paterno worked out his Nittany Lion squad yesterday without the services of starters Don Coccilli and Mike McBath.

Paterno said it was doubtful either Coccilli, offensive guard, or McBath, defensive tackle, would be in shape for Saturday's game with Ohio University.

Coccilli and McBath both suffered knee sprains last Saturday when Penn State upset previously unbeaten North Carolina State, 13-0.

Denver Rookie May Be Out for Season

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Rookie defensive back Jimmy Summers may be lost for the rest of the season with nerve damage to his left arm and shoulder, the Denver Broncos announced yesterday.

Summers, a Michigan State University product, was injured in Sunday's 20-18 American Football League defeat at the hands of Houston.

Reflecting on the North Carolina State game, Paterno had high praise for his team's performance.

"We beat a very good football team," Paterno said. "But we are a better team."

Paterno noted that some people have implied Penn State was "lucky to hang on and win."

"That just isn't fair to our players, who played a magnificent football game," he said. "I repeat, North Carolina State is a fine football team, but we are a better one."

Cross Country Meet

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1967 national AAU senior cross-country championships will be held in Chicago Nov. 25, the Amateur Athletic Union announced yesterday.

The 10,000-meter run, a little more than six miles, will be staged over the Windy City's Washington Park course.

Not for Cardiac Cases

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK — Only a few minutes of the game remained and the Dallas Cowboys had a 31-20 lead on the Washington Redskins, a couple of seasons ago, Clint Murchison, owner of the Cowboys, decided that it was safe enough to make the sporting gesture. So he wended his way to the box of Edward Bennett Williams, president of the 'Skins.

"Too bad, Ed," said Clint. "Congratulations, Clint," said Williams, trying to smile bravely. "Those things happen, you know."

Before Murchison could return to his seat, however, there were some startling developments. With Sonny Jurgensen at the controls the Washingtons swept 64 yards in four plays for one touchdown and flashed 80 yards in four plays for another. The second of these came with 1:13 to play and the 'Skins blocked a tying field goal attempt when the clock showed only seven seconds left. Thus did the Redskins win, 34 to 31.

The Capital Braves will meet the Cowboys in Dallas on Sunday in television's game-of-the-day offering and emotionally exhausted followers of these two teams cannot help but wonder if they will be using the same script. Their last four games have been ring-tailed wows. They have been decided by a total of ten points as the key action was compressed into a span that required a total of only 101 seconds, all just before the final gun. Although much too fantastic for belief, these strange sequences are absolutely true.

The least suspenseful one -- if you'll forgive the expression -- was the game of 1965 that provoked the Murchison-Williams exchange. That was decided early -- early? -- when there were 72 seconds left to play. The following season Dallas won, 31-30, with a field goal in the last 15 seconds and Washington took the return match, 34-31, with a field goal a scant four seconds from the end.

A few weeks ago the 'Skins were ahead 14 to 10 when Don Meredith hit Dan Reeves with a 36-yard touchdown pass with 10 seconds remaining. This gave the Cowboys a 17-14 victory. The winning play was sent in from the bench by Tom Landry and his messenger boy almost gunned it up. The messenger was Craig Paynam, a rookie who normally replaced Reeves. This time he was sent in for Don Perkins. But as soon as he gave Meredith the instructions, Paynam lined up in Reeves' spot.

"Over there, sonny boy," said Meredith, motioning the kid to the other setback post and calmly stationing Reeves where he belonged. Then Reeves shot into the clear and took the game-winning pass.

"Just another day at the office," said Meredith, trying not to act like an overjoyed square.

"The closest I came to being hurt all day," said the less restrained Reeves, "was when Willie Townes hugged me after I scored. He almost broke all my ribs." Townes, a 265-pound Cowboy tackle, hugs like a bear.

That particular loss to Dallas was just a fragment of the peculiar misadventures that have given the Redskins a snake-bitten appearance this season. Some seven weeks ago Washington beat the Giants, 38-34, in somewhat unorthodox fashion. Spider Lockhart of the New Yorkers intercepted a Jurgensen pass in the end zone only to have it jostled from his grasp when he crashed to the ground. The ball trickled toward John Love, Washington's rookie flanker, who was on the flat of his back. Love reached for the ball and embraced it -- for the winning points.

In their next five games the Redskins failed to gain a victory while endangering the lives of every cardiac patient in their rooting section. They might have won all but produced three defeats and two ties. The scores are eloquent: Dallas, 17-14; Baltimore, 17-13; St. Louis 27-21; Atlanta 20-20 and Los Angeles, 28-28.

Last Sunday the 'Skins put together a two-touchdown spree within 36 seconds but still had to come from behind to squeeze past the San Francisco 49ers, 31-28. It was the seventh straight game in which the Washington's went into the last quarter with the lead. This time they regained it with almost seven minutes to spare, a luxury to which they are totally unaccustomed.

Their defeat by Dallas in the final 10 seconds already has been recited. But the two ties were just as aggravating. The Falcons achieved their deadlock with only two seconds to go and the Rams with a generous 64.

It has to seem uncanny that the Redskins have contrived to jam such pulse-quickening action into the closing stages of their games. They have proved such crowd-pleasers that the Cotton Bowl will be sold out for next Sunday's expected thriller. They had better stick to their old script, though. It was a pretty dreary one that Bears-Giants and Packers-Browns used in their televised double-header the other day. It was enough to make a guy turn off his set and go outdoors to rake leaves.

ANTLERLESS PERMITS

County Treasurer Jack McCool shows just a few of the 15,850 antlerless deer permits his office will mail today for the coming season, 5,800 more than last year's quota. About 400 licenses will go to out-of-state nimrods who hunt in this area. (Photo by Hoff)

Antlerless Permits Being Mailed Today

15,850 licenses to hunt antlerless deer are being mailed today by County Treasurer Jack McCool. This represents an allocation for Warren County that is 5,800 more than last year's quota of 10,050 permits.

The 1967 statewide total allotment is 445,446 permits to hunt antlerless deer -- 64,500 more than last year.

Monday, November 13, was the first day McCool could approve and issue antlerless deer licenses to non-resident applicants. Approximately 400 are being issued today to out-of-state hunters. This is the first year any permits have been available to non-residents; in previous years Pennsylvania hunters took up the entire allocation.

Applications for these permits have been received by the County Treasurer by mail only. All will be mailed by November 15.

McCool reminds all families of men in the service that, because of recent action by the Pennsylvania Legislature and Governor Shafer, it is possible to accommodate residents of Pennsylvania who are members of the U.S. armed forces on full active duty, or who have been honorably discharged within 60 days of the date of application for antlerless deer permits to obtain such licenses, in addition to those issued under the allocation, if such individuals could not anticipate military leave and file applications during the regular period. County Treasurer McCool may issue licenses to such men and women, for the regular fee of $1.15. It is required that application must be in person for these special permits.

As soon as the state reports are completed, McCool will announce the cost of issuing these permits. "I'm quite certain," he says, "that I will show Warren County made a profit this year on these licenses." It appears the cost per permit for issuing these licenses will be reduced again this year.

Arnie Has Only One Goal Now: The PGA

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Arnold Palmer has one major goal left now, a victory in the PGA tournament, to fulfill his golfing life.

Palmer won the individual title Sunday in the 15th World Cup Golf Tournament, a title which escaped him in five previous tries.

Palmer and teammate Jack Nicklaus also won the team title, the sixth time Palmer has played on a winning team in this international tournament and the fourth time for Nicklaus.

"I regard this as being equal in importance with tournaments like the Masters, the British Open and the PGA," Palmer said before flying his jet to Puerto Rico. "Now the only thing I haven't won is the PGA. After that, I will have accomplished all of my goals."

Palmer shot a 67 in the final round Sunday, five under par, that gave him a 276 score for the 72-hole tournament -- 12 under par.

He and Nicklaus were 13 strokes ahead of their nearest

Defying Threat

MACAO (AP) — Hong Kong racing car drivers defied Communist threats on their lives yesterday and started sending their cars to this Portuguese colony 40 miles south of Hong Kong, to compete in this week's Macao Grand Prix.

"Don't come to Macao. No more warnings will be issued," said one threat letter to Hong Kong racing drivers by a group calling itself the Red May Rebellions Squad.

Leading communists here have denied the existence of such a group. Communist newspapers Monday asserted there was no danger for the Hong Kong racing team in Macao.

The Red-May group is suspected of being a splinter group seeking to intimidate the drivers from Hong Kong as part of the general Communist anti-British campaign here.

LOOKING ELSEWHERE FOR EXPANSION

National League Will Let Junior Loop Have Seattle Without Fight

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—The National League, virtually slapping the wrist of the American League for rule-breaking in its independent move to expand, announced yesterday it would not contest the junior circuit's beachhead in Seattle.

The AL last month voted to shift the Kansas City franchise to Oakland, Calif., and to grant franchises operable in 1969 to Kansas City and Seattle.

Representatives of the senior circuit met yesterday for expansion talks at a special meeting which grew out of the pressure generated by the American League.

Originally, it was reported that Seattle was high on the NL's new franchise list and that possibly the NL would challenge the AL for that city whose citizens vote in February on a $40 million bond issue for a new sports complex.

Challenge was thought to be in the making because of the announced intentions of E.J. "Buzzy" Bavasi, general manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers, in bidding for a Seattle franchise.

Bavasi had the blessing of Dodger owner Walter J. O'Malley, one of the NL's most powerful figures.

National League President Warren Giles said he wanted to clear the air about Seattle with this statement:

"The major league rules provide that before a major league makes a commitment or takes any official action to expand, its program will be presented to and discussed at a joint meeting."

"The resolutions adopted by the American League on Oct. 18-19 providing for transfer of the Kansas City club to Oakland and for expansion of the American League to Kansas City and Seattle involves a commitment and official action by the American League prior to a joint meeting which is contrary to the rule and will not oppose expansion of the American League to Kansas City and Seattle announced in its resolutions," he said.

The meeting resumed with Giles insisting that "we haven't even decided to expand let alone talk about possible new franchise sites."

San Diego, Milwaukee, Dallas, Fort Worth, Buffalo, N.Y., and Montreal have been mentioned

Mario Wins Driver of Year Award

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., was awarded the American Driver of the Year trophy yesterday.

Andretti, a 27-year-old native of Italy who came to the United States when he was 14, also was given a $7,500 check which accompanies the Martini & Rossi trophy.

Andretti's performance this year includes winning the 500-mile stock car race at Daytona, and, with Bruce McLaren of London as a partner, the 12-hour endurance race for sports cars at Sebring.

Later he took three straight events in Indianapolis-style cars and set a new lap record to earn the pole position at the Indianapolis 500 last May.

Runners-up to Andretti in the driver of the year competition were McLaren, who won the Canadian-American Challenge Cup trophy Sunday at the Stardust Grand Prix; A.J. Foyt of Houston and Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C. Each received a $1,000 award.

if expansion materializes. "We are exchanging ideas and if we decide on expansion we will set up a timetable," Giles said. "But nothing is going to be formalized until the joint major league meetings in Mexico City later this month."

"Right now, we are playing everything by ear," he said. Giles admitted he had franchise applications from Buffalo, Dallas-Fort Worth, San Diego, and Milwaukee.

"I also have a letter from Toronto which I consider a franchise bid," Giles said. "And I have an application from another city that has requested that it remain unidentified at this time."

Giles added that Montreal had not filed for a franchise and that he had not heard from anyone in that city. "If we decide to expand then we will select two cities so each league will have 12 clubs," Giles added. "We want to do everything in an orderly fashion."

"The American League violated the spirit of the rule, and I think its action was hasty," Giles said. "But it was confronted with problems, and they had to take faster action than they wanted to."

Later when pinned down with questions, Giles indicated that the unnamed city was, indeed, Montreal. He also said that he had "a letter from a good friend of baseball in Denver asking that Denver be considered for a franchise."

Speaking about the expansion rule and the move of the American League to Oakland, in the backyard of the San Francisco Giants, Giles said:

"It was unfortunate that San Francisco and Oakland were not included in the expansion rule which the major leagues passed five or six years ago. They could have been included at that time like Minneapolis-St. Paul. I think it was unwise for the AL to go into the backyard in the Bay area."

Asked what he thought of the Chicago White Sox scheduling nine games in Milwaukee next season, Giles said, "If I were the operator of the White Sox franchise I would move slowly in dealing with White Sox fans by playing in Milwaukee or anywhere else outside of Chicago."

The meeting ended with expansion still up in the air. "We just discussed expansion and no vote was taken but I would say there was sentiment for expansion," said Giles. "We will have a joint meeting on Nov. 30 in Mexico City. The next day the National League will meet on its own and expansion again will be discussed. I do know that there will be no franchises granted at Mexico City if we do decide to expand because we cannot move that fast. We are not ready to say that at the meeting in Mexico City plans for expansion would be or would not be formalized."

"Our meeting today was just about as informal as any which I have presided over. We prepared ourselves to go into the joint meeting and talk intelligently."

Dick Tannler Final Grid Contest Winner for Year

In a season marked by numerous upsets and ties, it is perhaps appropriate that Dick Tannler of 46 Locust street, Warren win the final TMO Grid Contest of the year with only 18 correct picks.

The fact that a member of the fairer sex, Shirley Mays of 201 West Main street, Youngsville, took second over two males by virtue of a closer score on the tie breaker may be even more in keeping with the spirit of the season.

Shirley, William Hill Jr. of 110 Onondaga Avenue and William C. Sandburg Jr. of 35 Second Street, Youngsville all came in with 17 games right.

Shirley, however, picked the Houston Oilers to defeat the Denver Broncos by a 20-14 score, only four points off the final count. The two Bills were both 12 points away and will share third place money. Hill saw Houston winning, 16-10 and Sandburg picked the Oilers by 21-7.

One tie in only two high school games listed on the final entry blank and two more deadlocks among the pros pulled everyone's average down.

And regardless of what Cleveland fans will tell you, Chicago's romp over the Giants and Washington's heart-stopper over the 49ers were the closest things to upsets on the pro gridrons.

The College weekend was something else again. Of 374 entries, only 44 readers predicted Oregon State would upend number one Southern Cal, that's a mere 12 percent. More loyal Penn State fans saw the Nittany Lions tripping favored North Carolina State, nearly half the entries, in fact.

Ludlow Area News

MRS. HILDUR WENSTRAN, Mrs. and Mrs. Andrew Bair of Warren, Pa., arrived at Kissimmee, Florida, November 3.

Enroute to Florida they stopped in Williamsburg, Va. for a few days where they had a great thrill. While visiting the Old

Capital building their group was asked to step aside while the King, Queen and Crown Prince of Nepal, Asia passed through with their F.B.I. guards and newspaper reporters. Mrs. Evert Johnson was hostess at the meeting of the Dorcas Society last Thursday with Mrs. John G. Johnson as chairman of the group. They are now busy with a Christmas project. Mrs. Beulah Carlson, president of the Covenant Mission

Ladies Aid, presided at the meeting in the social room of the church Thursday evening. The meeting was opened with group singing, scripture reading and prayer. After a brief business meeting the following program was heard: A reading by Miss Norma Bergquist, a vocal duet by Mrs. William Beckwith and Norma Bergquist, and readings by Mrs. Nettie Eckstrom and Mrs. William Beckwith.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Robert Beckwith.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Witter of Port Allegany and Mr. and Mrs. Algot Swanson of Ludlow were visitors for several days with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dixon in Messina, N.Y.

Mrs. Ebba Gustafson of Kane and Mrs. Arthur Christenson of Ludlow, visited Mrs. Sadie Gustafson at the Rouse Home in Youngsville Thursday. Mrs. Gustafson is very ill and her condition is considered critical.

Moriah Church Women will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. A play and devotions by the Luther League, "The Gifting Hour," will be presented. Invited guests are the Churchmen, Luther Leaguers and parents. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Carl F. Ellason and Mrs. William Hanson.

The Hamilton Township PTA observed American Education Week at Ludlow School Wednesday evening with a good attendance.

The PTA held their regular meeting at 8 p.m. with the president Mrs. Millie Anderson in charge. Prayer was given by Mrs. Carlton Olson after which the flag salute was made and the singing of America by all.

A discussion was heard on the purchase of new curtains for the stage. The president appointed Mrs. Lorraine Olson, Alfred Johnson and Mrs. Millie Anderson with Mrs. Wilda Cochran as chairman to obtain estimated cost.

It was decided to pay for Christmas trees and treats at the Christmas party. The Kane Area Council meeting will be held at the Junior High School in Kane November 29. The attendance banner was won by the third grade with Mrs. Julia Johnson, teacher. The next meeting will be on January 23, when a film will be shown, "The Old Amish Order."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Violet Strandberg, Mrs. Alfred Johnson and Mrs. Eugene Lucia with the fourth grade mothers assisting.

Russell Kearney, temporary chairman for the volunteer fire department, led the second meeting at the Hamilton Township building Sunday at 4 p.m. They discussed small fire extinguishers. Another meeting will be held in the near future.

Rev. Carl F. Ellason conducted services at Moriah Church at 11 a.m. using for his sermon topic "The Believers at His Coming." The church choir sang "Bless The Lord, O, My Soul."

A special collection was taken for the Children's Home in Zellenopie. The amount received was $61.10.

Acolyte was Rodney Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Johnson.

Those from Ludlow dismissed from Kane Community Hospital during the past week are: Mrs. Patricia Straneva, Mrs. David Eckstrom and Bert Carlson.

Mr. and Mrs. Algot Swanson recently attended the wedding of Mrs. George Margeson and Almond Ford at Port Allegany.

Mrs. R. L. Thomas at Tidoute, Pa. is a guest at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mabelle Nelson.

Mrs. Eva Jones has returned home from a weeks visit with Mr. and Mrs. Monty Jones in Red Bank, N.J.

Allegheny Reports 3rd Quarter Loss

Allegheny Airlines yesterday reported a net loss of $42,000 for the third quarter of 1967, or two cents a share compared with earnings of $701,000 or 38 cents a share for the same 1966 period.

The company said the 1966 third quarter earnings of $701,000 were higher than normal due to the strike against five trunk airlines during July and August of last year.

While commercial revenues increased 14 per cent during the third quarter from $11,436,000 to $13,052,000, public service revenues (subsidy) for the period declined from $1,377,000 to $904,000, or a 34 per cent drop compared with the same three months in 1966.

For the nine months ending Sept. 30, 1967 the company reported a net loss of $503,000 compared with net earnings in 1966 of $974,000 which reflected the increased revenues during the airline strike in third quarter last year.

Something will be stolen from your house this winter

When the first cold winds begin to blow, a natural phenomenon occurs that steals away an important home treasure. As the heat goes on in winter, no matter what the indoor humidity levels shrink and the air dries out.

Summer's dry air. Nasal passages dry out. Skin moisture evaporates more rapidly causing a chilly feeling even at normal temperature levels. However, if you have a Gas furnace, you have a head-start toward ending this problem. An adequately sized unit can be added-on to your Gas furnace system to bring the comfort of proper humidity through your ducts to the whole house.

In fact, your Gas furnace and duct system give you an unusual opportunity to keep your home at a constant level of comfort whether it's 0° or 100° outside. Summer Gas coolers can be added on to give you this flexibility. We call this complete system Gas Climate Control, a year around system so family comfort can never be stolen away again.

This is one of the many reasons why 98 of 100 new homeowners in our area have selected Gas over any other fuel!

For your free booklet on Gas Climate Control see your heating contractor, stop at any Gas Company office, or write Pennsylvania Gas Company, 16th & State Streets, Erie, Pa. 16565.

Broderick Claims Race For Space (Land) is On

Reporting on the recent two-day Pennsylvania Soils Congress at Harrisburg, Lyle Cathcart, who heads the Warren County office of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service, says the meeting dealt chiefly with use of soil surveys in selecting land best suited for urban and suburban developments.

At the soils congress Lieutenant Governor Raymond J. Broderick claimed the race for space is on in Pennsylvania. He said we no longer have unlimited choice in selecting prime lands for industrial, suburban and urban development.

Broderick says competition for land around Pennsylvania's metropolitan areas is on the increase. "This trend will continue," he reported, adding that new super highways, new parks, lakes, camping grounds, golf courses and new communities are consuming great quantities of land in the commonwealth.

Broderick told planners, local government officials and state and federal representatives at the session that the Pennsylvania Legislature is concerned about the stewardship of Pennsylvania's natural resources. He said today we continue to build on the great work of William Penn and Gifford Pinchot in cleaning our streams, revegetating strip mine areas, developing new recreation projects and conserving soil and water resources. He called Project 70 and the $500 million land and water conservation reclamation bond issue milestones along the road to a commonwealth of excellence.

Ivan McKeever, state conservationist of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, and chairman of the Soils Congress, told the group that more than 50 per cent of the land of Pennsylvania has been surveyed. This survey program is being carried out by Pennsylvania State University, Pennsylvania Dept. of Agriculture, and Soil Conservation Service.

R. Budd Dwyer, assemblyman from Crawford County, told the congress the legislature is concerned about soil surveys because many state agencies use surveys in their everyday work. He said too often new developments are a hodgepodge of disorderly developments, with accompanying problems of septic tank failures, contamination of wells, wet basements and flood damage. Dwyer reports approximately 20,000 septic tanks are installed in Pennsylvania each year. Past experience shows about half of these systems will fail within a five-year period because they were installed on unsuitable soils.

Farm-City Week Being Observed Around Nation

Theme for this year's celebration of Farm-City Week, according to Gerald Bensink, Warren County ASCS office manager, is "Farm and city—Partners for better living."

Bensink recalls that National Farm-City Week was organized on a national scale 13 years ago, to promote better understanding between rural and urban segments of our people, to make a better America.

"Some idea of the paramount role of the farmer today," says Bensink, "is indicated by the fact that today one farmer feeds and clothes himself and 49 others. This is almost four times as many as he sustained, even as lately as a quarter of a century ago."

"Agriculture alone is a 900 million dollar business in Pennsylvania," he adds. "Agriculture—in food and fiber produced on farms, and transporting, processing and marketing, involves 37 per cent of Pennsylvania's total labor force. Today there are one million persons employed in farming and agriculturally related industries in Pennsylvania."

The importance of agriculture to our economy is shown by the fact that agriculture takes more steel, rubber, petroleum, trucks, tractors and electricity than any other industry in Pennsylvania today, Bensink observes.

Britain Gets $250 Million More in Credits

(C) N.Y. Times News Service LONDON — Britain was reported yesterday to have obtained $250 million more in international credits for support of the pound.

The credit was apparently agreed upon over the weekend by leading central bankers meeting at the Bank for International Settlements in Basel, Switzerland. An announcement was expected in London, but did not come during the day.

The official silence after many rumors about the new support scheme for the pound mystified and titillated the London financial district. But the rumors were enough to buoy the pound in the market; it closed $2.7839 up .0003.

The fresh credit is expected to be used toward the repayment of $255 million due early next month on a loan from the international monetary fund. Otherwise Britain would have to dip into her gold and currency reserves or sell almost all the remaining government-held dollar shares.

The agreement of the major Western central banks to come to the pound's support once again also has great psychological significance. It comes at a time of new strain for sterling and is evidently intended to calm fears of devaluation.

The time is critical because Britain's monthly trade figures for October will be published today and everyone in London expects bad news.

There has been concern that the trade figures could start a new round of heavy selling of pounds. The Bank of England has put up large amounts in recent weeks in buying pounds to keep the rate from sinking below the official floor of $2.7825.

Erie Youth Pleads Guilty

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — One of two brothers accused of strangling Connie Rae Carstatter, 12, and leaving her body in a remote wooded area pleaded guilty yesterday.

Raymond Bearce, 23, of Rt. 1, Albion, entered the plea in Erie County Court just before attorneys were to begin selecting jurors for his trial on a murder charge.

Bearce's brother, Jerry, 15, who is also charged with killing the Erie County girl last August, is undergoing psychiatric tests. He is to stand trial later.

Sentencing was deferred for the elder Bearce.

50 RIOTING STUDENTS ARRESTED

National Guard Troops Ordered to Ohio Campus

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP)—Ohio National Guard troops were ordered onto the Central State University campus last night while sheriff's officers and highway patrolmen took about 50 rioting students into custody.

Brig. Gen. Robert Canterbury, assistant adjutant general for Army in Ohio, said he was calling in about 250 guardsmen who had been on standby at the Greene County Fairgrounds four miles from the campus.

Canterbury ordered the troops after some 200 students failed to obey an order by Sheriff Russell Bradley to disperse and go to their dormitories. Sheriff's officers of four counties and about 100 highway patrolmen moved into the dormitory complex on campus amid a shower of rocks, sticks and sections of iron pipe which cascaded out of the broken dormitory windows. At least one fire extinguisher about three feet in length was hurled from an upper window and narrowly missed some officers.

Windows in a number of automobiles in the area were shattered.

The students retreated into the dormitories and stood shouting taunts and cheers of "whitey" and "honkie" at the officers.

Most of the students who ventered outside the dormitory doorways were quickly taken into custody.

About 150 students at the predominantly Negro school had moved into Galloway Hall for a rally, stayed inside for about half an hour, and then stormed back out, breaking up into groups and causing numerous disturbances.

One thrown rock narrowly missed striking Gen. Canterbury. Canterbury was sitting in a cruiser with Sheriff Bradley and newsmen when the rock came flying through an open window in the car. No one was hit.

The demonstrators were protesting the dismissal of a student from Central State.

By early afternoon, about 50 students were reported inside the building with Michael Warren, who was expelled last week for allegedly threatening bodily harm to Dr. Rembert Stokes, president of neighboring Wilberforce University.

State patrolmen and sheriff's deputies were called to the campus after a crowd of 150 to 200 students gathered outside the building at the predominantly Negro school.

No violence was reported, but Warren and his supporters refused to leave the building. A Central State official said student Black Power advocates had interrupted a campus movie Sunday night to announce that Warren, a Negro, would return to classes.

The university said yesterday that Warren had not sought readmission.

ROTARY CLUB SPEAKER

Rotary Speaker Talks About 'Credibility Gap'

Dr. Roger Hufford, professor of speech at Clarion State College, was the speaker yesterday noon at the Blue Manor as Warren Rotary Club joined 12,900 other Rotary clubs in 134 countries in this week's world wide observance of "Rotary Foundation Week." This year marks culmination of a year-long observance by Rotary clubs everywhere of the 50th anniversary of the Rotary Foundation, according to club president Henry Powell.

Dr. Hufford was a Rotary Fellow, in 1956-57, at King's College, Durham University, England, where he earned a degree of master of literature. His topic was "Better International Understanding."

Hufford recalled he was in England at the time of the Suez crisis, and the Hungarian rebellion. His discussion yesterday considered in some detail discrepancies in statistics and pronouncements of the United States government on the situation in Vietnam. As director of the Clarion State College debating teams, Hufford says that he was professionally required to gather all evidence on both sides of the controversy over U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Weighing the evidence, he came to the conclusion that the U.S. Government's position was wrong. He cited dates, and pages of pronouncements and publication of statistics by the Secretary of State, the president and heads of the armed forces, which in his opinion have been very misleading to the public, and have caused a great credibility gap. The facts appear to him to prove that we are not winning the war in Vietnam. Further that both our allies and neutral nations all over the world are condemning our conduct of the war, and fear we may trigger World War III. He quoted U.S. casualty figures for the first four months of 1965 as 113 Americans; first four months of 1966 as 1,540; and the first four months of 1967 the loss of 2,779 Americans. Establishment of permanent air fields and other bases in Vietnam he reminds appear to many knowledgeable Americans to be most disquieting, and point to a tragic future of the Vietnam adventure.

Dr. Hufford feels this is a vitally important issue, and all the facts should be set before the American people. He closed with the quotation: "My country, right or wrong -- if it is right, to keep it right -- and if it is wrong, to make it right."

The speaker was introduced by Rotarian Henry Wuesthoff. John Kofod reminded Rotarians there will be no luncheon meeting next Monday, but instead a series of fireside meetings at the homes of several Rotarians.

Senate Passes Seven Bills Creating 8 State Judgeships

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate passed seven bills yesterday, creating eight common pleas judgeships, sending two of the measures to Gov. Shafer and the remainder back to the House.

Shafer received measures setting up a new judge in Berks County and two new benches in Delaware County.

Returned to the House for concurrence in Senate amendments were bills establishing new judges in Lebanon, Montgomery, Westmoreland, Bucks and Chester counties.

The measures would be effective Jan. 1 and provide for judges to be elected in the November, 1969 general election for full, 10-year terms. The governor, however, would be entitled to appoint judges as of the first of the year to serve until January, 1970, in all the counties except Westmoreland.

That county's new judgeship would remain open until after the November, 1969, election. Each judge will receive a salary of $30,000.

Minority Senate Democrats moved for the bills to be re-committed to the Appropriations Committee on the ground there was not enough money anticipated to pay the salaries of the additional judges, but Senate Republicans easily blunted this attempt.

The new judgeships topped legislative action as the House held a token session and adjourned out of respect for the late Rep. Enos H. Horst, R-Franklin, whose funeral was yesterday.

Both chambers return to work today. They had been in a two-week recess because of the general election last week.

Shafer met for a few minutes in the morning with four legislative leaders in another effort to reach a compromise on the budget-tax fight.

But, because of the Horst funeral, the conferees decided not to take any action, Shafer plans to meet with the four legislators tonight at the Governor's Mansion at Indiantown Gap.

On the conservation front, the Senate once again amended the beleaguered bill, which would implement the $500 million conservation bond issue.

The Senate bill, which has been on the calendar since May, is in position for a final Senate vote.

Yesterday's amendment would provide for the legislature to appropriate $100 million to various departments for use during the two-year period which began last July 1.

This sum would be broken down thus: $40 million to the Mines Department; $20 million to the Health Department; $25 million to the Forests and Waters Department; and $15 million to the Department of Community Affairs.

Expected To Rule In Death

ERIE — Erie County Coroner Merle Wood is expected to issue a ruling in the death of a 67-year-old Erie man on Sunday that resulted in the arrest of an Edinboro youth on several charges.

Dead of an apparent heart attack is Stephen Bekko, 1036 E. Fourth st.

Arraigned yesterday before Alderman James T. Hogan on charges of underage drinking and driving under the influence of alcohol was Edward H. Bower, 19, RD 1, Edinboro.

The alderman said Bower pleaded guilty to the first charge and was fined $25 and costs. A preliminary hearing has been set for 4 p.m., Nov. 28 on the drunken driving.

Police said the Bower car crashed into the rear of the Bekko vehicle at 4 p.m. Sunday. Both men got out of their vehicles after the crash, according to police, but the youth fled when Bekko returned to his car for a pencil and paper.

Police said Bekko then apparently suffered a fatal heart attack and was pronounced dead at Hamot Hospital at 4:20 p.m.

Bower was later apprehended by an Erie patrolman. Further charges against him are still pending.

Bower told police he had been drinking at a "stag" party earlier at the Marine Corps Reserve Center in Erie. Lt. Mario Bagnoni, Erie vice officer, subsequently led a raid at the center.

No minors were found at the center, according to police. Bower was a member of the Reserve Center.

Pupils Sent Home

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — The 470 pupils at Dehl Elementary School were sent home for half a day yesterday when water in the gas line disrupted the school's heating system.

New Vo-Tech Director Doing Studies

Samuel A. Marek, new director of vocational-technical education for the Warren County School District, greeted many of the visitors at the open house Friday evening at the School District headquarters in the former Pickett Hardware building.

About his work, Marek says he is developing a prospective program of studies, looking toward an area vocational-technical school. "It takes approximately 2 1/2 years from inception to completion of such a school," he observes.

Formerly vocational printing instructor at Johnstown (Pennsylvania) High School, Marek can do everything from four-color to newspaper printing. He was for a period a part time member of the press crew for the Johnstown Tribune-Democrat.

His home town is Johnstown. He himself is a graduate of a vocational high school, and was graduated from University of Pittsburgh. He is presently doing graduate studies at Pitt. Marek served with the United States Navy for 4 1/2 years. While in the armed forces he spent two years in Italy, and speaks Italian.

He has been teaching vocational education at Johnstown High School on top of 12 years in the printing trades, as a printer.

His responsibility is to make a feasibility study on the needs of this type of educational program in the Warren County School District. It will be based on needs of the youth in the district.

Jacka Attends School Meet

Dr. John M. Jacka, assistant county superintendent of schools, is attending a four-state meeting on Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, November 14, through 17 at the Inn at Buck Hill Farms, Pa.

The meeting will be attended by teachers, administrators, project directors and officials of state education departments, as well as representatives of the U.S. Office of Education, from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and New York.

At this meeting will be discussed the past, present and future of Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. It will provide opportunity to review highly successful projects, as well as programs that may not have achieved their objectives.

Attendance is by invitation only. Dr. Jacka says Title I under the act covers programs for the educationally disadvantaged children.

During the past year Warren County has conducted a secondary school tutoring program, to help the senior high school student who is experiencing academic difficulty. A summer program for remedial instruction and special services was another successful project.

"This conference will provide a big forward look," Dr. Jacka observes.

Erie DA Goes After Built-in House Vacuums

CORRY — District Attorney Richard F. Brabender Friday petitioned for a court injunction to stop Continental Enterprises of Irving, N.Y., and its salesmen from selling built-in house vacuum cleaning systems in Erie County.

Brabender declared the firm is charging "excessive prices" is using "fraudulent and misleading" sales methods and is violating the state Home Improvement Finance Act.

The petition for injunction filed in Erie County Common Pleas court, came after an investigation of the firm's practices here by the new state Bureau of Consumer Protection, according to the district attorney.

Also named defendants in the injunction were James Ammons and Carl Walters, both of Erie and both salesmen for the firm, and Dennis Reed, Lotus Bay, N.Y., reputed owner of the firm. The built-in cleaning system, which takes four to eight hours to install in a home, sells for $699 but, when financed through a finance company of the seller's choice, the total customer indebtedness is more than $1,000 Brabender pointed out.

In addition to asking the court to enjoin future sales in violation of the home improvement act by the firm in Erie County, the district attorney's petition asks: to declare all the firm's sales contracts null and void; to return all money paid by buyers to the firm or finance companies for the system; to determine a "fair and reasonable" price for the system for buyers wishing to keep the systems in their homes.

Prospective customers are obtained by offering buyers up to $150 for referrals of home owners whose names are given and who buy the system, according to the petition.

The improvement finance act prohibits referral sales.

The petition alleges the company has offered a share of company profits without registering with the state Securities commission.

The petition represents the first actual court action taken by the new consumer protection bureau since setting up offices in Erie recently. Attorney William J. Kelly reported.

Other complaints have been filed against Continental and others before aldermen and peace justices, Kelly noted, however.

Reportedly the firm's salesmen have left Erie and area sales are believed to have been discontinued.

Breakfast Briefs

Probes Breakin

Chief Deputy Sheriff Richard F. Hegerty is continuing his investigation of a break-in at Sugar Grove Farm Supply Co. in Sugar Grove.

Hegerty stated entry was gained sometime Sunday night by breaking glass and entering through a rear window. As near as could be determined, police said, about 12 boxes of shotgun shells were taken.

Erie Safe Looted

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Burglars broke into a neighborhood store, cracked a safe and made off with $3,100 in cash and merchandise, police reported yesterday.

They said the thieves looted the safe of $1,500, and took $700 worth of cigarettes and watches valued at $600 from Rieger's Store.

Minor Mishap

A minor accident at the intersection of Third Ave., and Water st., yesterday caused a total of $350 damage to two automobiles.

The Warren Borough Police investigation report said that Delores E. Schryver, 406 W. Fifth ave., traveling along Water, was unable to put her brake on quick enough to stop for the stop sign and avoid striking Richard S. Guley, 62, of Stephen rd., traveling east on Third ave.

Jaycees Accepting Applicants For Miss Warren Co. Pageant

Entry applications are now being accepted for the 1968 Miss Warren County Pageant whose franchise will now entitle the girl selected Miss Warren County to compete for the Miss Pennsylvania title.

To be eligible to enter the contest all entrants must be a resident of Warren County, for the past six months. Girls must be single, never been divorced or had a marriage annulled. Entrants must be between 18 and 28 years of age and a high school graduate as of July 1968.

To qualify for the contest girls must be of good character and possess poise, personality, intelligence, charm and beauty of face and figure. Entrants must possess and display in a maximum of three minutes a talent presentation. This talent may be singing, dancing, playing a musical instrument, dramatic reading, art display, dress designing, creative poetry, or writing to mention a few. In lieu of the previously mentioned talents a girl may give a talk on the career she wishes to pursue which may be teaching, nursing, medicine, business, etc. In the talent category entrants may be either amateur or professional.

Girls entering the contest must agree to abide by all the rules of the local, state and national Miss America Pageants which are now in effect or may later be announced. Entrants must agree that the time manner and method of judging shall be solely within the discretion of the Warren Jaycees and that the decision of the judges is final.

The girl selected as the winner of the contest must agree she will not sign a management contract with any individual or corporation. The selected winner must agree not to give any verbal endorsement of any mercantile commodity or commercial organization. Entrants must agree she will not permit any photographs to be used in connection with any advertised commodity or service not associated with the contest, without the permission of the Warren County Pageant.

Girls who do not enter the contest themselves, but meet the above requirements may be recommended to the pageant by contacting any Jaycee who will forward the recommendation to one of the committee. There are many talented and deserving girls in the county so send in your entry now. Miss Warren County of 1968 is potentially the future Miss Pennsylvania.

by Marion Honhart

THE WEATHER GOT YOU DOWN? The four walls seem to be closing in on you? Well, this is the week you really can get out of the house and take the family with you. You can start tomorrow noon when a luncheon of homemade Chili and homebaked pies, all kinds of condiments, coffee, tea, or milk, will be served from 11:30 to 1:30 p.m. at First Methodist Church. Just 75 cents and sponsored by the Adult Fellowship Class.

Then, in the evening, the Seneca Parent Teachers Unit is sponsoring a Dessert of homebaked pies (many kinds) for which tickets are 25 cents; coffee and orange drink will be available also. Serving will be from 4 to 7 p.m., or, you can take it home with you.

For an unbeatable combination of cultchah and practical Christmas shopping there's the 5th Annual Art League Christmas Show and Sale opening on Thursday through Sunday, at the League Center from 7 to 9:30 each evening. Afternoon hours are from 2 to 5 (but no afternoon hours on opening day, and no Sunday evening hours.)

Also on Thursday there is the annual Extension Homemakers Christmas Fair in the First Presbyterian Church. . . . An open house, everyone is invited to attend.

Friday seems to be a free day in the community, a light flick of the duster and a quick swish with the vacuum and you should be all set for today Saturday's activities. . . . Sweet Adeline's presentation of "HITS Magic," featuring not only their own lovely harmonies, but the talents of Don Nelson of Bradford, professional magician, and the Pittsburghettes, a national award winning comedy quartet. All this for only $2 per ticket (a few will be available at the door); curtain time at Warren Area High School auditorium 8:15 p.m.

Now, on the same day (Saturday) St. Joseph's Bazaar opens from 4 p.m. until 7 p.m. on Sunday from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. Besides all kinds of booths, supper refreshments will be available, the highlight of which of course will be St. Joseph's famous meatballs. . . . There will be no admission charged for the Bazaar which is sponsored by St. Joseph's Altar Society.

Rounding out the entire week's program of "things to do" is the beautiful beyond description concert by Warren Civic Philharmonic Chorus and Warren Civic Orchestra in the auditorium of Warren Area High School on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Carl Stout is the director of both the chorus and the orchestra in their performance of Mozart's "Requiem." Those attending are invited to enjoy punch and cookies afterwards.

If the Shoe Fits—James R. Valone Footsaver Education Has shoe-fitting improved over the years? It may seem incredible but the fitting of children's shoes has improved immeasurably in the last twenty years. Parents are no longer flabbergasted when a shoefitter measures both feet of their child. Twenty years ago you felt fortunate if he measured either foot.

After careful measurement, the modern shoefitter may try three or four shoes in the same size before he is satisfied that he has the correct last for the child's foot. Twenty years ago, if the last of the shoe was wrong the shoe clerk changed the size. Almost all shoe sizes were concealed in code so the customer didn't know the difference.

It is a sad commentary on our nation's interest in foot health that the law requires a manufacturer of clothing to show the percentage of wool, cotton, etc., but the shoe manufacturer is not required to mark shoe sizes so the buyer can read them.

ONE OF WARREN'S MAJOR INDUSTRIES 4 Day Christmas Art Show And Sale Opening Thursday

In the above sketch done by Sandra Lee, wife of H. David Lee of 320 Park street, the New Process Company situated on the corner of Hickory street and Second avenue, is illustrated. This is one of the four new scenes this year on the popular notepaper always featured at the Warren Art League Christmas Art Show and Sale.

The show opens this Thursday, the 16th, from 7 to 9:30 p.m., and continues through Sunday, the 19th at the Art League Center, 345 Fifth ave. East. At this time the League members are presenting selections from the Philadelphia Print Club and the Ferdinand Roten Galleries of Baltimore.

The 50-year-old Print Club has not only shown great art, it has helped make it. Today, when a Rembrandt price tag makes page one of the Philadelphia Daily News, and Picasso originals are on sale at Sears, it is hard to imagine that fifty years ago Philadelphia didn't have a single art museum, and that only a few upper crust patrons would buy graphics, or even walk across the street to look at them. The handful of people who started the Print Club in 1915 to stimulate print making and sales were regarded lightly.

Eventually the Club in its humble quarters, a former 1880's stable, at 1614 Latimer street became a center for the graphic arts. The Print Club, the country's oldest non-profit organization of its kind, now has several thousand examples on hand, costing as little as $5 and rarely more than $150.

Unless clearly identified as something else, the Club's prints are always originals, and the something else may be posters or restrikes of rare prints, such as the Kollwitz series that goes for $12, $15, or $18 as compared to the three-figure prices the originals would bring.

Surprise Open House Honors Couple's Silver Anniversary

Seventy friends and relatives gathered at McKnight's Hall in Wesley Woods, Grand Valley, for a surprise open house in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moroski of RD 1, Grand Valley, recently.

The event was in observance of their 25th wedding anniversary and was given by their children, Linda and Virginia of Buffalo, N.Y.; Judy, Ronald, Glenn, George, David and Richard at home, and Joseph Jr., who is serving with the Marines in Hawaii.

Anna Hays and Joseph Moroski were married on October 24, 1942 at Chapmanville. The couple renewed their wedding vows after the 11 o'clock Mass at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church in Tidoute, with the Rev. Father Arthur Fleckenstein officiating.

At the open house a three tier anniversary cake baked by Mrs. Erna Orok, was the highlight of the table decorations.

Corporal Joseph W. Moroski called his parents from Hawaii to congratulate them on their memorable day.

Friends and relatives attended from Buffalo, N.Y., Erie, Titusville, Warren, Tidoute, Townsville, Pittsfield, Pleasantville, Corry and Grand Valley.

Oboe Soloist Featured In Civic Concert On Sunday

Warren Civic Orchestra is presenting Richard West, band and orchestra conductor for Beaty Junior High School, as oboe soloist in its concert at Warren Area High School Sunday, November 19, at 3 p.m. Mr. West's choice of solo is the famous Vivaldi D Minor Concerto by Antonio Vivaldi.

This concerto was composed by Antonio Vivaldi (1678-1741) who was educated both for music and for the priesthood. Because of illness suffered early in his priestly career he devoted himself wholly to music. Since Vivaldi had red hair he was always known as il prete rosso, "the red-headed priest," a nickname of the sort which the Italian public has always loved to bestow on its favorite artists. His main position was as conductor, composer, teacher and general superintendant of music at the Conservatory of the Pietà in Venice, which was a shelter for orphans and illegitimate children. About forty girls were usually in the orchestra which gave concerts attracting large audiences.

This oboe concerto was composed for this particular group of musicians and is in three movements. It is delightful to listen to and Mr. West lends his considerable talent to the changing moods. It is with full orchestra accompaniment. Mr. West was born in Springfield, Pennsylvania and graduated from Northwest High School in Albion, receiving his degree in music from Mansfield State College. Upon graduation from Mansfield he taught school music two years in Wattsburg High School, coming to Beaty Junior High School three years ago. Mr. West studied oboe with Harvey McGuire, English hornist of the Cleveland Symphony for four years and in college with Dr. Sylvester Schmitt. During his college years he performed many times with the Mansfield orchestra and concert choir as soloist. In addition to his valuable music support to the Civic Orchestra, Mr. West is a faithful member of the Trinity Choir and played an important part in the pit orchestra of the recent Pacificer's production of South Pacific.

The board of directors of Civic Orchestra are sure the public will be delighted with this unusual solo and with the Mozart Requiem, which will be presented in its entirety by the 50-voice Philharmonic Chorus. The famous Beethoven Overture of Egmont will complete the program. These concerts are always free to the public and are followed by an informal social hour in the foyer at which the public is invited to talk with the performers and enjoy punch and cookies. The time again, Sunday, November 19 at 3 p.m.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several months ago I read a letter in your column from a 16-year-old girl who signed herself "Sour Sixteen." She said she hated her father because he was a drunk and embarrassed her in front of friends. It took until now to get up the courage to answer her. I hope you will print my reply.

Dear Sour Sixteen: I am sorry for you, but not because your father has caused you embarrassment. I am sorry because you are filled with hate and bitterness. This will cause you more harm than anything your father could do or say.

I am also 16. My father died last year from a liver disease. He was an alcoholic as far back as I can remember. My father said and did some disgraceful things, too, but he never disgraced me, poor man, only himself. And I know, too, that after he sobered up he was miserable and ashamed.

Now that my father is gone I remember the few kind and thoughtful things he did for me. There are so many little things that you don't notice but once they are gone you will miss them. I am sad knowing that when I marry I will not walk down the aisle on my father's arm. I am sad, too, knowing that my father will not be here to see me become the woman I will some day be.

Please give your father a kiss for me because I cherish the memory of the few kisses my own father gave me and I will never know them again.—ALSO SIXTEEN

DEAR FRIEND: You speak of the woman you will some day be. You are already more of a woman than many who are three times your age. Such compassion and insight is rare at any age. I salute you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For those married men who have gotten themselves messed up with another woman I would like to relate this little incident:

I work in a restaurant and I meet all kinds of people. This rather attractive but depressed looking man came in at 8:00 a.m. for breakfast. I knew him and I knew his history. He was married but living apart from his wife and three nice kids. The reason: a bottle blonde who works in his office.

This particular morning he sat down at a corner table and with sort of a catch in his voice said, "I'd like a glass of warm orange juice, two slices of burnt toast, two cold fried eggs, and a cup of warmed-over coffee. And please sit down and nag me. I'm homesick."—MR. B.

DEAR MR. B.: Why didn't you tell him to go home and get the real thing? I'll bet his wife and kids would be happy to see him.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a girl 15 and have been bugged by something for the last three years. My girl friend has the same problem, only not as bad.

I do babysitting and save my money to buy gifts and things I really need. Three times since January my mother has asked me to lend her money (the last time it was $6). She promised she would pay it back by Saturday. Well, that was three Saturdays ago and I still don't have my money. This morning when I reminded her again she mumbled something about a light bill. Now I'm sure she will never repay the $6, just as she didn't repay the $4 and the $7.

Is there a solution? Please come up with something.—NEW MEXICO

DEAR NEW: Bank your money instead of letting it lie around the house.

Those Versatile Anti-Moth Pills

No doubt you've been following with wonder the dramatic leap of the pill from the medicine cabinet to the boudoir and the psychiatrist's office. But are you aware that one of the oldest of household pills—those little white pellets that have proved so successful in preventing moth damage—can now be used to cure a multitude of home and garden headaches beyond the clothes closet?

Naphthalene, the ball or flake type of moth preventive, has recently been found to be effective against pests even more formidable than its traditional enemies—the moth and the carpet beetle. Or if you prefer, your moth preventive in a nugget or crystal form, paradichlorobenzene will also do the trick.

It all started when the State of Maine declared war on the nocturnal assaults the deer had long been making on its apple orchards.

Each year the deer's delight in unwrapped tree-borne fruit costs American apple-growers millions of dollars in damaged and plundered crops. The outcry of Maine farmers against this graceful marauder was heeded by the state's Department of Inland Fisheries and Game, which was concerned both with putting a halt to the pillage and protecting the dangerously depleted deer population. After testing numerous chemicals, Chief Game Warden Marsh found that a mere sniff of naphthalene would send the deer scampering.

And so, a centuries-old problem was solved by the simple expedient of hanging mothballs enclosed in mesh bags from the branches of the apple trees and, for further protection, surrounding the orchard with lines of mothballs.

As a home gardener and householder, you can benefit from the happy fact that not only deer but many small animals will take offense at the sharp attack these preventives make on their sensitive sinus tracts. For instance, the quivering little nose of the rabbit, sniffing out your carrots, tulips and nasturtiums, will quickly get the message that a couple of small bags of mothballs or para nuggets strung around your garden send out to it.

Or perhaps that ingenious little burglar, the squirrel, has been finding entrances into your home despite all your efforts to bar him—ripping up mattresses and similar stuff as he collects material for his nest, and creating a noisy disturbance in your attic. Track him down by sprinkling flour across his usual nighttime routes, then following his footprints to establish the path and entry point to your home. Next opportunity, strew mothballs, flakes, para nuggets or crystals across this path, and watch him turn his bushy tail. Even the skunk, ironically enough, cannot abide these odors and can be routed by them.

These moth preventives have many additional uses. For one thing, mildew—that furry white fungal growth that can cause such dismay to housewives when it attacks material in damp parts of the house—

Thursday Is Day Of Annual Homemakers Christmas Fair

An annual feature of the Extension Homemakers Christmas Fair this Thursday, November 16, is to be "Gifts For Giving." It will be held in the First Presbyterian Church and the public is invited. Any person in Warren County is welcome to donate a gift or gifts for the Warren State Hospital program which makes it possible for needy patients to give to their relatives.

Gifts are needed for men, women and children and they do not have to be expensive. Wrapping paper, tape and ribbon may also be donated. Gifts should be fairly small and should be in unwrapped boxes if possible, to make wrapping and mailing easier.

can be rendered obsolete by the proper application of para or naphthalene. And in the garden we find that para crystals can be used to protect one of the loveliest of arboreal adornments—the peach tree. Placed in a circle around the tree, para crystals are deadly to the peach borer, a moth larva that not only bores into the fruit, but invades the trunk and branches, often killing the entire tree. And for blueberry fanciers who are looking for a simple, effective mulch, paradichlorobenzene is just the thing.

Oddly enough, while all kinds of garden pests are being sent scurrying by the anti-moth pill, moth and carpet beetle larva are responsible for the nearly $1 billion of home damage each year because of improper methods. The three most common Unwrapped gifts may be brought to the Christmas Fair or left at the Agricultural Extension office in the Warren Courthouse basement before Thursday. Should anyone prefer to donate money there will be a collection pot at the Fair for this purpose. The money will be used to pay the postage for the Christmas packages, and to provide small Christmas gifts for patients who have no families.

Extension homemakers on the "Gifts For Giving" committee include Mrs. Elise Rea, chairman, Hemlock Home Extension; Mrs. Ellen Carr of Hooktown; Mrs. Catherine Stockhill of Starbrick and Mrs. Betty Storch of North Warren.

mistakes made are: (1) not using enough preventive (2) inadequately sealing the place of storage (3) not replacing the preventive frequently enough.

The recommended minimum quantity of moth preventive to be used is about two pounds per 100 cubic feet for paradichlorobenzene, and about double that amount for naphthalene. Since both types of moth control are quite inexpensive, it is wise to err on the generous side.

Since it is the vapors emitted by these moth preventives that destroy the larva, it is most important to prevent their dissipation into the outer air. Tight storage is a must. This can best be achieved by folding the treated clothes in aluminum foil and sealing tightly, and using tightly closed closets or wardrobe bags.

Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead Five of ♠ Today's hand aroused considerable comment when it was dealt during the Life Master's Pairs at the Summer Nationals recently concluded in Montreal, Canada.

After East opened the bidding with one spade, many players holding the South hand chose to make an immediate cue bid of two spades which is forcing to game in the highly competitive auction that followed. North and South were usually obliged to bid six hearts in order to buy the contract. The result of this bid varied according to how the play proceeded.

The opening lead was the five of spades which declarer ruffed, and the usual followup was to play the ace and another club. East's queen fell under the ace and on the next lead West put up the nine. If he was permitted to win the trick, then the defense was finished, for there was no way to get his partner in and since West had no trumps himself, South could not be prevented from ruffing out his two remaining clubs in dummy. Trumps were drawn subsequently and declarer was able to claim 12 tricks.

East usually frustrated this ending by trumping his partner's nine of clubs and returning a heart. This limited South to one club ruff in dummy, and he subsequently fell one trick short.

Only one declarer uncovered the line of play that was bound to succeed against even perfect defense. After ruffing the opening spade lead, South began by cashing the king and ace of diamonds and then leading a third round which he ruffed in his hand with the nine of hearts — thereby establishing North's diamond suit.

Declarer followed up by playing the ace and another club. East was obliged to trump his partner's nine and return a heart in order to prevent the cross-ruff. When West showed out on the first trump, declarer's course was clearly marked out.

He won the trick with dummy's jack of hearts and led a high diamond. East, who was down to two trumps, ruffed in to prevent an immediate discard. South overruffed and led a heart to North's queen to pull East's last trump. The two remaining diamonds provided a parking place for declarer's losing clubs.

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1967

ARIES (March 21 to April 20) — If you lose one way, you gain another, providing you are using your talents and not wasting time at foolish risks. Machinists, tool-makers and handlers, transportation pick up bonuses.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21) — The good thoughts can help you out when they react later to quell the hopelessness or unnerving ones. As the tree grows, so its strength compounds its majesty. Keep communication lines open.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) — Take a few minutes to re-align your thoughts and to better understand your own motivations. Once convinced your plans and aims are the best, step ahead briskly and with ever-renewing confidence.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) — Specializing in science, medicine, dentistry, helping (and we mean physically aiding) organizations that help the less fortunate or momentarily downed — these and all good works and due rest greatly sponsored.

LEO (July 24 to August 23) — Look at the message offered today — look deeper: Is there a word to the wise you haven't yet read there? Campaign for what you believe in, and contribute heartily, but draw the line at a race-pace.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23) — There are some recurring lulls, some dull things suggested, but then the humdrum isn't always delectable either, so make sure you are separating the real from the fanciful, that YOU are thinking.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23) — Admit a loss, a decision that seemed fair or unfair, and see to it that all the things YOU know should be tended to ARE, and on time. Oh, yes, even the sturdy, prompt Libra can err in this!

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22) — The everyday boys and girls are doing wonders right under the oblivious noses of the publicity-makers. Which would you rather be, strong in and by, your own doing or pushed by this or that wind?

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21) — Occupations involving contacting the public and following one success with another, the second topping the first rather swiftly, would suit you. You can manage children and animals brilliantly.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) — Work associated with investments, advertising and travel and calling upon your capably disciplined mind, and just being a friend in need could bring you unusual contentment & satisfy desires.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) — Constancy and a comfortable feeling are more rewarding than usually credited for being. If some confinement annoys, recall the better moments AND the fresh days and outlook ahead.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) — Read up and keep up on all that is worth-while and cherished. When you get around you normally cover more ground than many but may find it harder to recognize your wants or needs right now.

YOU BORN TODAY: Go after the surer, more-expressive-of-the-inner-you things and know that you can bring about more harmony and frequently be tolerant when others are not. Make the most of numerous rewards proffered. And it's your spunk, your unusually high form of vitality and your nobility that will put up the backing for you to gain successes AND contentment you so earnestly want. Realize that there are many good chances to attain other than the one or few that may have temporarily closed their doors. There is much trust placed in you: Live up to your best, Scorpio, and that will be something to be pleased about.

'FROZEN' SHOULDER

Frozen shoulder is not a scientific term, but one so appropriate and descriptive, that it has been accepted generally. In this disorder, the shoulder is stiff and cannot be moved without pain. Most victims are middle-aged.

The cause is not known, although several factors are possibilities. Some individuals develop gradual stiffness because of disuse while recuperating from stroke, coronary thrombosis, or other disorders calling for prolonged bed rest. Others ascribe the condition to a minor injury such as a contusion or sprain, but trauma usually is not responsible.

At any rate, certain movements of the arm trigger pain. Because activity causes discomfort, the sufferer spares the extremity. A vicious circle results, in that the less movement, the more rigid the shoulder becomes. In time, stiffness is so acute, the arm cannot be raised straight from the side or rotated as in reaching for the wallet in a back pocket.

If the abnormality goes untreated, pain lessens somewhat in time and there is partial return of motion. But the shoulder is not so limber as before and, consequently, the limited movement remains a handicap. There is no unanimity of opinion as to what happens on the inside. To the best of our knowledge, the tendons and fibrous tissues have degenerated. In some, calcium deposits have formed in the shoulder.

When discomfort abates, treatment consists of an intensive program of exercise and physical therapy. Manipulation is done initially under anesthesia. The limbering process must be gradual and sometimes ACTH or hydrocortisone is used in conjunction with these treatments.

Heat in the form of an electric pad or hot water bag affords relief. Infrared lamp, and short wave or ultrasonic therapy will prove helpful.

TOMORROW: Phobias.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

IMPROVING HEARING AT 37

F.P. writes: What is the most common cause of deafness? I'm only 37 and can't hear conversation or TV unless the volume is turned up.

REPLY:

At your age, otosclerosis is the most common cause of loss of hearing. This is a progressive type of deafness for which a hearing aid or operation is advised.

NEW YORK — The stock market failed to sustain a strong early advance yesterday, weakening in the afternoon to finish lower for the session.

The biggest losses on the New York Stock Exchange occurred after 2 p.m., following a statement in Washington by Ellsworth Bunker, United States ambassador to South Vietnam, that he saw no signs of "reciprocity" that might lead to a pause in the bombing of North Vietnam.

Autoer factor which kept the market on edge was a news agency report that the hard-pressed Viet Cong leaders may be preparing negotiations with the Saigon regime with the intention of establishing a coalition government.

The biggest losers on the big board were the glamour issues, including the electronics and office equipment stocks and the automotive group. Profit-taking was blamed for the weakness in the glamour list, which had made good gains on Friday.

Analysts saw the early strength yesterday as a continuation of the technical rebound on Friday.

One Wall Street observer said there was more profit-taking than actual market weakness in the late decline.

Quotations at the close showed that price declines outnumbered advances by a margin of 758 against 504.

Volume on the Exchange edged slightly higher to 10,13 million shares, compared with 9.96 million on Friday.

The bearish performance was reflected in the leading market indicators — all of which ended lower. The Dow-Jones industrial average closed with a loss of 3.07 points, at 859.74.

The Stock Exchange's composite index fell 0.15 point to 50.97. The New York Times combined average of 50 industrial and railroad stocks closed at 509.95 points, down 0.53. Standard &amp; Poor's 500-stock index ended the day at 91.97, down 0.24.

New lows continued to outpace new highs. Eighty-five stocks made new 1967 lows while only 25 set new highs.

The glamour issues in the electronics and office equipment field that were hardest-hit included: Control Data down 8 1/4, to 138 1/4; E. G. &amp; G., Inc. 4 1/4, to 51 1/4; Raytheon 6 3/4, to 97 1/4; Tek 5 1/2, to 134 1/2; Collins Radio 5 1/2, to 88 1/2; Tele-dyne 4 1/2, to 118 1/4, and Addressograph-Multigraph 4, to 65 1/4.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange followed a pattern that has been getting familiar — selling pressure in the last 90 minutes that more than wiped out earlier gains.

At the close, declines outnumbered advances by more than 2 to 1, while the Exchange's index was down 26 cents to $21.65. Thus, a rally last Friday — when prices advanced for the first time in nine sessions — proved to be a one-day wonder.

Volume rose to 5,049,030 shares, against 3,887,590 on Friday.

On the 970 issues that changed hands, 555 lost ground, another 258 advanced, and 157 closed unchanged.

Dynalectron — a heavily traded issue recently — was the most active stock by a wide margin on volume of 403,200 shares. It dropped 6 1/2 to close at 23 1/2.

Prices on the Over-the-Counter market were generally lower in moderately active trading.

MEMO TO MANAGEMENT*Here's why Blue Cross is a better bargain for you than any other hospital care plan:*YOU SAVE PAPER WORK

There's no claim form to fill out because Blue Cross handles claims directly with the hospital. Your office personnel is freed for more productive work directly concerned with your business. By changing to Blue Cross and eliminating claims handling, many a company has found it could reassign employees to other work. And one Blue Cross contract can cover your employees anywhere in the world.

YOU SAVE TIME

Insurance carriers require a claim form to be completed by the employee. But only Blue Cross handles the form for the employee. Do your employees have to spend several hours — on your time — filing claims under your present program?

YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE BUYING

Blue Cross writes only health care protection. With a Blue Cross program, you know exactly how much you or your employees are paying for health care protection. Rates are reviewed periodically to reflect current hospital costs and usage. Many former "package" buyers have found greater advantages in separating their health care protection from the rest of their insurance program.

YOU GET FULL COVERAGE

In better than nine out of ten cases, Western Pennsylvania Blue Cross covers in full the cost of the hospital care a subscriber needs. Insurance companies usually allow a fixed dollar amount per day, plus so much for extras. Too often under this "fixed sum" arrangement the employee must pay from his own funds a sizeable balance not covered by his health insurance.

BLUE CROSS GIVES YOU MOST FOR YOUR MONEY... IN EVERY WAY

We would like to discuss with you a Blue Cross program for your company. Dollar for dollar, it's the best bargain in hospital care protection. Call or write your local Blue Cross office.

Blue Cross of Western Pennsylvania
One Smithfield Street, Pittsburgh, Pa. 15222
Branch Offices: Erie, Johnstown, and AltoonaHere's why Wide-Tracking is catching on as the great American sport.

Having captured so adroitly the flight of motion in this splendid GTO, our engineers could well have quit while far ahead. But that would have been decidedly un-Pontiac. So under that cheeky hood, and behind that revolutionary new bumper, they put the soul of a car born to the road. The suspension, with its Wide-Track stance and turnpike tuning, clings like morning fog. The optional engine, while delivering 360 hp, can be ordered to breathe through those pinched nostrils. The tires are very wide. The seats are bucket. (You can exchange them for bench.) The shifter is Hurst for greater shifting around. And the General Motors safety package, which includes side marker lights, is standard.

The option list is as grand as it is long, and includes Rally II wheels, hood-mounted tach, even a stereo tape player. You might be lucky enough to find The Great One at your Pontiac dealer's. Or on the road. But nowhere else.

STRICTLY BUSINESS by McFeathers"What do you mean YOUR company will take over OUR company! OUR company will take over YOUR company!"*"I'm a stock broker. Here's an advantage smart investors see in listed stocks."

"Millions of shares are traded daily so it's usually easy to buy or sell."

You mean there's always a buyer or seller when I might need one?

"Yes, that's usually the case. If you think the timing is right to buy, or get out of a stock, or switch from one to another, your broker can usually find your counterpart in a matter of minutes, if it's a common stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange."

Just how many people own listed stocks?

"The Exchange estimates upward of 12 million, well over half of all the shareholders in the country. And there are all kinds — big and small, old hands and newcomers. And your chances to buy or sell when you want to are often helped along by the big institutional investors, buying and selling large blocks. This flow of stock between buyers and sellers is called liquidity."

Suppose it just happened that none of these investors were interested when I wanted to buy or sell?

"Then an Exchange member called a Specialist usually steps in with an offer close to the price of the last sale made on the floor. It's part of his function to help maintain a fair and orderly market."

FREE INVESTMENT GUIDE ON LISTED STOCKS — SEND COUPON TODAY

How many investors do business in the Exchange market on an average day?

"It's not uncommon for 85,000 buy and sell orders to come to the Exchange floor in a day, and for 10 million shares to be traded. When you have that kind of supply and demand, at a central marketplace, you see why listed stocks offer the investor so much opportunity to time his purchases and sales to fit his own circumstances."

Okay, now for the big question — how do I go about choosing a listed stock?

"Start by talking over your own circumstances with a member firm broker. The amount you can invest after regular expenses and emergencies. Your goal, such as long-term growth, dividends, or maybe the relative safety of bonds. Ask for facts and your broker's own opinion of listed stocks that attract you. Then make your judgment. There's always risk, as in any investment, but sound investing can be a rewarding experience. That's why it's so important to understand the advantages that listed stocks can offer."

Poll Says Confidence In LBJ Low

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Louis Harris Poll indicates public confidence in President Johnson is at a record low, while the Gallup Poll shows voters have more faith in the Republican than in the Democratic party.

The Harris Poll, published yesterday in the Washington Post, said public confidence in Johnson personally and in his handling of the Vietnam war had dropped to 23 per cent of those responding late last month.

The Gallup Poll, on the other hand, said its nationwide survey indicated 30 per cent of those responding had more faith in the GOP than in the Democratic party to handle the war, racial strife and the high cost of living.

Asked about the polls, White House press secretary George Christian said the President makes his decisions on the basis of what he thinks is right and not on "whether the polls are up or down."

When a reporter suggested the latest surveys seem to indicate Johnson is in serious political trouble, Christian said everyone seems to have his own favorite indices and barometers of public opinion, "but you can't run the presidency on those indices."

He went on: "What I'm trying to drive at is that the President is fully aware that not everything he does is 100 per cent popular. And as he has expressed, he has to proceed on what he thinks is right. You can't base it on polls."

The American Institute of Public Opinion, Dr. George Gallup's poll organization, said 26 per cent of those reached named the Democrats as best able to handle the problems. It said another 28 per cent felt there was no difference and 16 per cent had no opinion.

It was the first time since 1957 that the Gallup Poll rated the Republicans over the Democrats in terms of voter confidence.

The Harris Poll meanwhile said support for Johnson's determination "to fight on until a negotiated peace is reached" in Vietnam had dropped 11 per cent in a month to only 26 per cent in October. Johnson's position had the support of 51 per cent of those polled in July.

Harris said those who want to get out of Vietnam "as quickly as possible" have increased from 25 per cent last July to 44 per cent in late October. He said the number of those who want "total military victory" is 21 per cent, the same as last July.

Harris also said both those who want a total victory and those who want to get out say they will vote for any Republican nominee against Johnson.

While the poll shows most Americans wanting a change in Vietnam policy, Harris reported his poll shows only 29 per cent favoring a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam. He said 53 per cent feel the bombing should be continued and 18 per cent were undecided.

Striking Auto Workers Called Back

DETROIT (AP)—Striking auto workers at one of Chrysler Corp.'s two most important stamping plants last night were told to return to their jobs.

In a heated 90 minute meeting ordered by United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther, some 1,500 members of Local 1263 were told by Douglas Fraser, the union's Chrysler Department director, that their strike was unauthorized.

The stamping plant in suburban Sterling Township, the firm's Detroit Universal Division and four assembly plants were shut down by strikes and parts shortages yesterday. The six facilities employ more than 26,000 workers.

Union members at the Universal Division, however, voted 448 to 276 to return to work at 7 a.m., today while bargaining continues on a new local contract covering 1,200 workers.

More than half—80 out of 136—of the firm's local contracts have been settled.

A nationwide strike against Chrysler was averted when the company and the union came to terms on new contracts covering 95,000 hourly-rated workers shortly before a strike deadline set for midnight last Wednesday.

Local walkouts have hobbled production at the nation's No. 3 automaker since then.

Negotiations are continuing at the national level in an effort to reach a contract covering Chrysler's 8,000 salaried employees represented by the UAW.

Some Banks Banned From Selling Lottery Tickets

(C) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — After denouncing the odds and the morality of the New York State lottery, the Senate voted yesterday to bar all federally-insured banks from selling lottery tickets.

The bill, which would close off about 60 per cent of the present sales outlets for the New York lottery, passed by a voice vote after the Senate rejected, 56 to 17, an effort by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., to recommit the measure.

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., who sponsored a more restrictive version of the bill which passed the House last July 13, said last night he "probably" will accept changes made in the measure by the Senate. This would allow the bill to go directly to the President, by-passing a Senate-House conference to resolve differences in the two versions.

Joseph H. Murphy, the New York State tax commissioner who has charge of the lottery, had said that the bill would be "a severe blow" to the lottery, whose proceeds go to support education. However, with sales of the lottery tickets lagging far below expectations and the threat of congressional action to bar banks from selling the $1 tickets, the state has been considering new sales outlets.

Within a few days, for example, lottery tickets will be sold as an experiment throughout the state in selected supermarkets, drug stores and department stores. The tickets will be sold at special booths by state employees. Under state law at present, the tickets can be sold only in banks, hotels, motels and government offices.

New Car Sales Drag

(C) N.Y. Times News Service DETROIT — New car sales in the first 10 days of November continued to drag behind last year's levels because of the Ford strike.

General Motors Corporation reported record early November sales, and Chrysler Corporation reported a small gain. But American Motors Corporation car sales trailed last year.

Ford Motor Company did not report its new car sales yesterday, but industry analysts said Ford's sales would be well below last year, an effect of the Ford strike, which would drop the industry total well below the 251,000 American-made cars sold Nov. 1-10 last year.

General Motors dealers reported 143,219 automobile sales, up 4 per cent from 137,718 deliveries a year ago and a record for the period.

Chrysler reported 39,119, up fractionally from 38,987 deliveries in the corresponding 10 days last year.

American Motors sold 5,757 cars, down 24 per cent from 7,543 a year ago.

Ford sales were around 20,000 cars, well below 66,753 sales a year ago.

High Court Moves Toward Better System of Justice

By BARRY SCHWEID Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court took another step yesterday toward a system of criminal justice that treats the poor and the rich alike.

The equalizer is the right to a lawyer's help, and the court applied it unanimously to hearings at which a convicted man may be taken off probation and sent to jail.

"Appointment of counsel for an indigent is required at every stage of a criminal proceeding where substantial rights of a criminal accused may be affected," Justice Thurgood Marshall wrote in his first opinion for the high court.

Probation revocation or deferred-sentencing procedures are one such stage, the justice concluded, and so "a lawyer must be afforded."

The ruling bridges a gap left open when the court gave impoverished defendants the right to free legal help from police investigation through trial. It was made in two Washington state cases but is broad enough to apply in the many states that either require or permit such hearings.

On an entirely different front, the court refused to hear a suit challenging the New York Stock Exchange's brokerage commissions system—an action that gratified the exchange and thoroughly displeased Chief Justice Earl Warren.

The suit, filed in behalf of shareholders in five mutual funds, claimed the setting of minimum commission rates for exchange transactions is an illegal price-fixing conspiracy.

"This is no ordinary case," Warren began in a four-page complaint against his colleagues' refusal to measure exchange practices against federal antitrust laws.

He said it raises important questions about "the fulfillment of the goal of investor protection embodied in the securities laws" and is of "utmost importance to millions of investors."

Warren stood alone. Except for the notation that Marshall had taken no part in its deliberations, the court said nothing other than the petition to be heard had been denied.

Robert W. Haack, president of the exchange, said in New York City that the exchange is "gratified by the action of the Supreme Court." He declined comment on Warren's dissenting views.

In other actions the court: Ruled unanimously that owners of riverbank land taken by the federal government are not entitled to be paid for the land's value as a potential port site.

Turned down a plea by Capt. Howard B. Levy that a federal court be empaneled to hear his challenge to the military code of justice. The 30-year-old physician is under three-year sentence on conviction of disobedience and seeking to promote disloyalty among Vietnam-bound troops.

4 From State Killed in War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four more Pennsylvania servicemen have been killed in the Vietnam war, the Defense Department announced last night.

Killed in action were Army Spec. 4 Robert E. Haynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Haynes, Pittsburgh and Marine Cpl. Alfred C. Springfield Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Springfield Sr., Canonsburg.

Changed from the list of missing to dead of hostile causes were Army Spec. 4 Clyde W. Klingensmith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Klingensmith, Route 1, Saxenburg; and PFC. Robert L. DeVoe, husband of Mrs. Cinda J. DeVoe, Fawn Grove.
